

FIVE NATIONS SPURN BIDS TO PARIS

OUTPUT SOARS
AS SOFT COAL
MINES REOPENSOUTHERN OWNERS
READY TO ACCEPT
NEW CONTRACT

Pittsburgh, July 9. (AP)—Miners thronging back into soft coal pits after their extended vacation sent production soaring in northern states today while the announcement by southern operators that they also would accept the new wage contract promised normal production by the week's end.

The southern operators, who employ approximately 100,000 of the 400,000 bituminous United Mine Workers, late today followed the lead of northern, mid-west and western owners in agreeing to John L. Lewis' terms.

The first of the southern group to sign represented West Virginia and East Kentucky bituminous mines. The UMW estimated less than ten per cent of the nation's soft coal production still is unaccounted for.

Pennsylvania, Illinois and Ohio led the field in restoring coal production with fuel flowing from pipelines to industry in a growing stream. Over the nation, delay in holding ratification meetings, widespread absenteeism and lack of full crews slowed recovery in some areas.

Steel To Go Up
Forecasts were general of resumption of normal production by tomorrow. A state-by-state survey showed nearly 135,000 of the 300,000 miners covered by the northern agreement were back at work today.

The Illinois Coal Operators association reported all mines working and the AFL-United Mine Workers said about 17,000 of the state's 23,000 miners had returned to work. John McCann, president of the Independent Progressive Miners, reported all his 17,000 members were in the job.

Miners resuming work near Pittsburgh were jubilant over gains won by the new contract but feared increased living costs might eat up some of the benefits.

The miners agreed they still dislike the Taft-Hartley labor law but said they were reconciled to working under it.

Meanwhile, a prediction of an early steel price advance, averaging $5 a ton, came from the national metalworking paper, Iron Age, which said the boost would reflect the higher cost of making steel. As a result, the publication added, "automobile and home appliance manufacturers may be forced to raise their prices almost immediately."

CLAIMS LAW VIOLATED
Washington, July 9 (AP)—A warning that coal operators risk criminal prosecution for signing John L. Lewis' precedent-breaking wage contract was sounded today by Rep. Hartley (R-NJ) even as southern operators capitulated and affixed their signatures.

Hartley said the pact violates the Taft-Hartley labor law.

About ninety percent of the soft coal industry has now formally agreed to Lewis' terms.

Rep. Hartley said in a House speech that any operator who signed up might face charges carrying penalties up to $10,000 in fine and one year's imprisonment.

The check-off of initiation fees and assessments of the United Mine Workers, provided in the contract, is not sanctioned and is a "clear violation of the act."

Atom Energy
Files Taken
As Souvenirs

Washington, July 9 (AP)—Senator Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) told the Senate today that two souvenir-hunting soldiers surreptitiously removed "certain important documents" from atomic energy files at Los Alamos, N. M., in March, 1946, but that FBI agents recovered the papers.

So far as he knows no damage was done to the security of the atomic secrets, said Hickenlooper, who is chairman of the Senate-Atomic Energy Committee.

He said the secret data were taken from the Los Alamos testing station by two former army sergeants before their demobilization. He described them as "souvenir hunters."

Hickenlooper told his colleagues: "So far as I know, no effective breach of security was accomplished."

"The documents were, as we believe, completely and fully recovered. . . . The individuals did not allow unauthorized persons to have any access to these documents, and we have no present information that any unauthorized persons did in fact see the documents other than the two army sergeants."

FBI headquarters here declined to disclose the names of the two former sergeants or say whether they had been placed under arrest. All questions were referred back to Hickenlooper's committee.

Under the atomic energy law, the penalty for disclosing a bomb secret to an enemy is death. Departments of justice officials were uncertain, however, as to the penalty, if any, in the present case.

PRETTY BLONDE
ACTRESS SLAINUnclothed Body Found
Sprawled In New York Apartment

New York, July 9. (AP)—An attractive, blonde actress was found beaten and strangled today in her modernistic midtown apartment, her unclothed body sprawled between twin beds, and police immediately began scanning the list of her men friends in the hunt for the slayer.

Police Commissioner Arthur W. Wallander, who set up headquarters at the apartment and mobilized 50 men for the case, said the 49-year-old woman worked for "First National Pictures in 1937."

She rented the apartment at 333 West 57th street under the name of Mrs. Sheila Manning, however, and neighbors said they believed she was a radio actress.

The body, with a blood-stained towel in the mouth and a sheet knotted about the throat, was found this morning by the woman's maid, but Wallander said it had been established she was slain yesterday afternoon.

A partly-smoked cigar, regarded by Wallander as "a valuable clue," was found in the apartment.

Party Bosses Urge President To Make
Fall Campaign Tour

Washington, July 9 (AP)—President Truman is being urged by officers of the Democratic National committee to make a nationwide tour around Labor day as a preliminary to the 1948 election campaign, but had made no commitment.

Party leaders made this known today coincident with a visit to the White House of members of the National committee and state chairmen from six southern states—Arkansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Oklahoma, Tennessee and Texas.

Party chiefs said the cross-country trip, if made, could begin with a bang at Chicago where it has been suggested the President attend a big party rally in Soldier Field.

From there it was suggested that he take in the northwest and states between, thence down the west coast and back home through the southwest and the political "border states."

Truman Summons
Congress Leaders
To Meeting Monday

Washington, July 9 (AP)—Congressional leaders said today they have been invited to the White House next Monday for a conference with President Truman.

They said they did not know the topics to be discussed but speculated they might include congressional adjournment plans or the administration's foreign-aid program.

SENATE GETS SET TO RUSH
TAX CUT BILLPASSAGE ASSURED,
BUT CONGRESS IS NEAR DEADLINE

Washington, July 9. (AP)—Republican backers of the $4,000,000,000 income tax cut bill shoved it through the Senate finance committee on an express schedule today and followed up with an appeal for public support against an expected veto.

House Speaker Martin (R-Mass.) made the plea in a radio broadcast, asserting that the issue is whether the president or Congress is to control the nation's purse strings.

He spoke after the finance committee, acting in less than an hour, approved the House-passed bill 10-3 and headed it for the Senate where its path to passage appeared clear.

"We'd like to finish the bill in the Senate this week," Committee Chairman Millikin (R-Colo.) told reporters.

He said he had heard no recent threat of a filibuster, although there had been rumors that foes of the measure might try to talk it to death before the slated July 26 adjournment date for Congress.

However, Senator Taft (R-Ohio), chairman of the Republican policy committee, served notice that the lawmakers will forget the July 26 goal, if necessary to get a final decision on the new tax bill.

Pocket Veto Possible
The Republicans are particularly anxious to prevent giving Mr. Truman a chance to kill the bill by "pocket veto." The president has 10 days to consider a bill before signing or rejecting it, and if Congress should adjourn during the 10-day interlude, Mr. Truman could exercise the pocket-veto—that is, let it die without taking any action.

The bill would make the tax cut effective next Jan. 1. The measure the president vetoed would have made the effective date July 1, 1947.

Republican leaders take it for granted that the House, which passed the new bill by a whopping 302-to-112 vote yesterday, can roll up the two-thirds majority necessary to override another presidential blackball.

But while passage of the bill appears assured in the Senate, the outcome of a veto vote there remains in doubt.

In other important actions today the Senate finance committee:

1. Approved a two year freeze of the social security payroll tax at its present rate of 1 per cent each on employees and employers.

2. Voted to extend the sugar quota system for five more years, with a basic quota of 4,268,000,000 short tons for domestic sugar producing areas, which include Hawaii, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands.

Three Democrats lined up with the seven Republican members to slam the tax cut bill through the finance committee in 43 minutes.

Three Democrats voted against the cut.

ARMED FORCES
UNITY APPROVEDSecretary Of National Security Created By
New Must Measure

Washington, July 9. (AP)—The Senate stamped its approval tonight upon a permanent unification of the Army, Navy and Air Forces.

The compromise measure—developed after repeated requests by President Truman during the past two years—now goes to the House where Republican leaders have it on their "must list."

The Senate passed the bill on a voice vote after rejecting a series of amendments by Senator E. W. Robertson (R-Wyo.), who with some support from Navy and Marine Corps enthusiasts, had been battling the measure.

Chairman Gurney (D-S.D.) of the Senate armed services committee and other supporters said the far-reaching revision of the armed forces is necessary to save the United States from destruction when and if a future war strikes.

Under the bill, called "the national defense act of 1947," all land, sea and air forces would be placed under a single cabinet officer, the secretary of national security. The Air Forces would be raised to co-equal status with the Army and Navy.

"FLYING DISKS" PHOTOGRAPHED—Albert Weaver, Pontiac, Mich., says this is a photograph of two "flying disks" he and two companions saw over Pontiac. Weaver said the disks traveled at about 100 miles an hour at an altitude of 150 feet. He described them as two feet in diameter and two inches thick. His companions agreed with his story. Communist Revolution
Crushed In Greece By Swift Pre-Dawn Raids

BY L. S. CHKALES
Athens, July 9. (AP)—Greek police and soldiers, under orders to crush a reported Communist revolutionary plot, arrested several thousand persons today in swift pre-dawn raids conducted simultaneously throughout Greece.

More than 2,000 persons were seized in the Athens area alone, an official announcement said.

Napoleon Zervas, minister of public order, said the zero hour for a Communist uprising—under a "plan F"—had been set for 1 a. m. tomorrow.

The Communists already had issued orders for the distribution of arms, Zervas declared, and had intended to plunge the entire kingdom into revolution.

Police officials here asserted that the Communists had schemed to "murder political leaders," seize important ministries and conduct a campaign of general sabotage.

The arrests, accomplished without disorder, made virtually a clean sweep of leftist leaders here. Zervas said, however, that many high-ranking Communists had fled to the mountains in northern Greece.

Approximately 4,000 gendarmes, police and soldiers participated in the raids, the minister disclosed.

LICENSE GRANTS
OIL FOR RUSSIASpecial Export Permit
Issued By Commerce
Department

Washington, July 9. (AP)—The commerce department today granted a special export license for shipment of petroleum products to Russia only a few hours after Chairman Weichel (R-Ohio) of the House Merchant Marine committee demanded the license be refused.

Under Secretary of Commerce William C. Foster acknowledged his office issued the license after Weichel had telephoned him yesterday to halt the movement of 248,000 barrels of petroleum now being loaded aboard three American-owned tankers on the West Coast.

Foster's announcement was made calmly before the Merchant Marine committee in response to a question by Rep. Willis Bradley (R-Calif.).

In his prepared statement, he said the department does not believe that exports of petroleum and petroleum products "should be prohibited or drastically curtailed. To do so would upset the world system of distribution and make petroleum a source of international friction."

He explained that other countries are dependent upon the United States for 45 percent of their petroleum and petroleum products, that cessation of exports would cause "chaos and confusion" in "friendly" countries; that this country itself was a big petroleum importer, and that a ban on exports might lead to a ban on imports.

PRINCESS BETH GETS ENGAGEDHeiress To Throne Will
Wed Former Prince
Philip Of Greece

BY TOM WILLIAMS
London, Thursday, July 10. (AP)—The engagement of Princess Elizabeth to her childhood sweetheart, the handsome former Prince Philip of Greece, was announced officially early today by King George VI.

The king gave his blessing to the long-foretold engagement of Britain's heiress apparent in a court circular, the traditional manner of speaking to his subjects.

No date has been announced for the wedding, but it probably will be in October at Westminster Abbey. It is certain to be one of the most colorful ever held in London as the 21-year-old Elizabeth will be the first princess to marry while heir apparent to the throne.

The 26-year-old Philip—big, blond and breezy—gave his bride-to-be an engagement ring containing a large diamond and two smaller baguette diamonds set in platinum.

The former prince, who gave up his royal titles last March to become a British citizen, spent the afternoon with his betrothed, and dined with the royal family last night. He and the princess will make their semi-public appearance as an engaged couple today at a Buckingham Palace garden party.

Otto A. Jacobs, chief counsel for Louis Overall, 18-year-old heiress accused of murder in the slayings of her parents, financier and Mrs. Walter E. Overall, argued loudly against permitting the introduction of detonators.

But Superior Judge Kenneth E. Morrison, who described himself as a former coal miner, ruled that the detonators are no perilous when properly handled.

The caps were identified by Frank W. Crocker, Newport Beach fire chief, as those found in the forward cabin of the Overall yacht four days after an explosion March 15. He said the five unexploded caps were attached to sticks of dynamite.

Crocker, yesterday described finding the dynamite and caps concealed behind a bulkhead. Today he identified two clocks and a battery also discovered, he said, in the same section of the boat.

Also on trial with the girl is George Gollum, 21-year-old pre-medical student. The state alleges that they bludgeoned her parents to death because of opposition to their impending marriage, then tried the homicide slayings by rigging the dynamite so it would be detonated by the clock. They were ashore at the time of the explosion.

New Trials Asked
In Garsson Arms
Bribery Conviction

Washington, July 9. (AP)—Classing their recent bribery conviction as "unfair," ex-Congressman Andrew J. May and munitions makers Henry and Murray Garsson today applied for a new trial.

May and Garsson brothers were accused of a conspiracy involving buying May's services as chairman of the House military committee for more than $50,000 to aid the Garssons' $70,000,000 wartime arms enterprises.

"The verdict of 'guilty,'" the motions said, "was returned under circumstances of prejudice and ill-will against the defendants that rendered the verdict unfair and unjust. It should be set aside in the interests of fair play and justice."

House Speaker Next
In Succession Line
For The Presidency

Washington, July 9. (AP)—A bill which would make House Speaker Joseph W. Martin, Massachusetts Republican, the next in line for the presidency, may be up for final passage tomorrow.

House Republican leaders had announced their hope of sending the bill to President Truman tonight, but action was blocked because the formal printed report of the House judiciary committee on it was not ready.

POLAND JOINS YUGOSLAVS ON
RUSSIAN SIDETALKS ON REVIVAL,
MARSHALL STYLE,
OPEN SATURDAY

BY JOSEPH E. DYNAN
Paris, July 9. (AP)—Poland and Yugoslavia joined Russia and two other nations in the Soviet orbit tonight in rejecting the British-French invitation to participate in the Paris conference on European recovery under the Marshall plan which opens here Saturday.

On the eve of the deadline for accepting the bids, sent to 22 European nations, Finland and Hungary remained the only two nations whose participation was uncertain.

The participation of 15 nations, in addition to France and Great Britain, definitely was assured. It was anticipated that Albania, who also has not replied to the invitation, would follow Russia's lead in refusing to discuss the American aid proposal advanced last month by Secretary of State George C. Marshall.

Poland's refusal, announced in Warsaw after a four-hour cabinet meeting, was prompted chiefly by the fact that Germany would share equally in reconstruction efforts with other war-torn countries. Bulgaria's rejection of the bid was announced earlier in the day and Romania notified the British and French of their refusal earlier this week.

DeGaulle Plans Program
Observers said there was a "50-50" chance that Finland and Hungary would send representatives to the conference.

Those countries which have officially or unofficially accepted are:

Belgium, Italy, Portugal, Eire, Greece, Turkey, Luxembourg, Holland, Czechoslovakia, Iceland, Austria, Switzerland, Norway, Sweden and Denmark.

Georges Bidault, French foreign minister, informed a national assembly committee that Czechoslovakia had inquired for details on the "American conditions" of aid to Europe. He insisted that the United States had posed no conditions for aiding a European mutual assistance program.

Gen. Charles De Gaulle, in a speech to the Anglo-American Press Association, threw his influence behind the Marshall program, terming it "clairvoyant initiative" which might prove the "world's salvation" from war by uniting Europe under ideals of liberty and human rights.

In his frankest statement on Russia, De Gaulle compared the Soviets with Nazi Germany and said both were menaces to western civilization, nurtured on totalitarian ideology under iron discipline.

PENSION BOOST VOTED
Washington, July 9. (AP)—A 20 percent increase in pensions for veterans of the Civil War and Spanish American War, and their dependents, was approved today by the Senate finance committee.

The bill, which passed the House unanimously, goes to the Senate floor for action.

Delta Unemployed Decreases To 700; 500 Are Veterans

The number of unemployed in Delta county took a decided drop from 900 in May to approximately 700 at the present time, James M. Damitz, manager of the local Michigan State Employment Service announced yesterday.

The current total of jobless includes approximately 500 veterans, 70 women, and 130 non-veterans. At least 300 or about 40 percent of the current total of 700 live in outlying areas and report to the several itinerant points serviced by the Escanaba office.

Although the majority of firms throughout the county are operating at peak employment, the establishment and expansion of new industries has aided considerably in reducing unemployment. Several new industries, although starting on a small scale, plan to add workers as rapidly as new workers can be trained.

During the month of June the local employment office referred 167 individuals to local employers for job interviews, and of this number 78 were hired which included 37 veterans and 16 women. The local Employment Office has current information regarding local, state, and national job opportunities.

Charles Jones Are Honored On 20 Year Anniversary

Trenary, Mich.—Saturday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jones of Trenary were pleasantly surprised when a group of their friends arrived to celebrate with them their 20th wedding anniversary. Among the attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Vern Cummings of Skandia, Mich., bridesmaid and best man when Mr. and Mrs. Jones were married. Others attended from Skandia, Marquette, West Branch, Chatham and Munising.

The cake was baked by the same person, Mr. Jones's mother, who had baked the wedding cake. During the evening the couples danced after which lunch was served.

The Jones received many gifts, among them a set of silverware, a complete set of blueglass dinnerware and a large white hamper.

Roller skating will start tonight at Club 314, the City Youth Center, it was announced yesterday by the city recreation department. The skating party is for members of 314 and for Cloverland Commercial College students. If the roller skating proves successful, it may be expanded to two evenings a week.

Starting Monday, July 21, old time dancing will be resumed at the youth center for adult groups. There will be no jazz dancing or jitterbugging. Music will be provided by the Kobasic Harvesters.

D. B. M'INTYRE GETS PENSION

Was Superintendent Of Ashland Division At Antigo

D. B. McIntyre, former assistant superintendent of the Peninsula division of the Chicago and North Western railway at Escanaba, retired on July 1 as superintendent of the Ashland division after 49 years of railroad service.

Mr. and Mrs. McIntyre will continue to make their home in Antigo. Their son, Robert, now resides in Chicago, where he is employed as technical editor of Popular Photography magazine.

Mr. McIntyre started his career with the North Western as a telegrapher on the Madison division in May 1898. He moved to the Wisconsin division train dispatcher's office in Chicago in July 1900. He was promoted to night chief train dispatcher in July 1903, and chief train dispatcher in July 1913. In May 1916 he was appointed trainmaster at Council Bluffs.

In February 1918 he was supervisor of transportation in the office of R. H. Ashton, regional director of the United States Railroad Administration, and former president of the Chicago and North Western Railway.

He held this position until October of the same year when he was appointed assistant traffic manager of the Simmons company at Kenosha. In November, 1919 he was appointed assistant director of Transportation of the American Petroleum Institute, which position he had held until Dec. 1920.

At that time he returned to the North Western as transportation director in the office of the general superintendent. In June, 1923, he was promoted to trainmaster at Kenosha on the Wisconsin division, and in October of the same year was promoted to the position of assistant superintendent at Escanaba, on the Peninsula division.

Mr. McIntyre held this position until April 1, 1940, when he was appointed assistant superintendent of the Ashland division at Antigo. On Dec. 1 of the same year he was made superintendent of the Ashland division, the position he has held until his retirement.

FOUR TEACHERS SIGN CONTRACTS

Six More Needed To Fill Positions In Escanaba Public Schools

The Escanaba board of education has approved four new teacher contracts, bringing the total new contracts to 20, with six more teachers needed to fill positions, it was announced yesterday by John Lemmer, superintendent of schools.

It was explained that 12 of the 26 new teachers are replacements for substitute teachers; 10 are to fill vacancies caused by resignations; and that four are additional teachers needed because of increased enrollment.

1947-48 school year will be for 38 weeks, the same as last year. The four new teachers who recently signed contracts are as follows:

Marjorie Irwin of Ishpeming, who will teach in the primary department, is a Northern Michigan College of Education graduate and has taught at Onoway, Mich.

Alice Jodocy of St. Nicholas, a graduate of Northern Michigan College of Education, will teach general science and Spanish in the Junior high school.

Carol Smith of Antigo, who has been teaching in Neopit, Wis., will teach in the elementary grades. She is a graduate of Stevens Point teachers' college.

Supt. Lemmer announced the Escanaba school calendar for the coming school year as follows:

Aug. 25, teachers report for the opening of the term; Aug. 26-29, pre-school conference; Sept. 2, classes begin; Oct. 2-3, M. E. A. conference in Marquette; Nov. 27-28, Thanksgiving vacation; Dec. 21, Christmas vacation begins.

And in 1948: Jan. 5, school reopens; Jan. 16, first semester closes; Mar. 20, Easter vacation begins; March 30, school reopens; May 31, Memorial Day; June 3, school closes.

JUDGE STUDIES LINE DISPUTE

Power Company Claims It Has Easement Over Cemetery Land

Judge Frank A. Bell yesterday in circuit court reluctantly agreed to the filing of briefs in the injunction suit of the Gardens of Rest cemetery vs. Upper Michigan Power & Light company after counsel for the plaintiff told the court he was not prepared to present verbal argument.

Gardens of Rest seeks a permanent restraining order which would prevent the power company from extending a new power line north and south through the cemetery property on a disputed roadway location.

Although urging verbal argument in the case, the court agreed to the plaintiff's request to submit briefs and gave the plaintiff 10 days to file, and the defendant power company 10 days in which to answer.

Permits Survey Judge Bell also said he saw no reason why the power company should not continue with its survey work for the line, although gaining no rights by it, and halting the survey when funerals were in progress.

Marcellus McNabb, Escanaba, surveyor for the power company, yesterday testified that he had always considered a north-south roadway through the cemetery a public roadway. There is already one power company line on that route, once a federal highway before US-2 was relocated and paved.

that he had known of the road since 1908, and had traveled on it as late as Monday of this week in connection with maintenance of the power line. He testified that the company plans the erection of a 33,000 volt line on 40-foot poles, and that not more than three poles would be located in the cemetery area.

"We will be glad to cooperate and paint the poles green so they will harmonize with the surroundings," Zuehlke said. "We are always willing to do that, or to shift the poles so they will not be in the way."

Needed For Service It is necessary to build an additional line running to Escanaba to provide service to the public, Zuehlke testified. The present lines are overloaded, and two lines are needed on separate poles to maintain continuity of service.

He said both the present pole line and the roadway had been there since 1908 and that he saw no reason, since the cemetery development started in 1939, to object to the cemetery location.

Deeds introduced in evidence revealed that the Gardens of Rest property deed has a clause giving the power company an easement to cross with its power lines, similar to deeds for other properties in that area. It is the contention of the plaintiff that clause does not include the erection of any additional lines.

Judge Bell's decision will be reached after he has studied the testimony and the briefs the two parties will submit.

Wells Youth Camp Opens For Season

The outdoor education camp at the Wells state park opened Monday. Children from grades 5, 6, 7, and 8 from Menominee county and part of Delta county will participate in a planned program of outdoor education with special emphasis on nature study.

Mr. Edmer Lacasse is the camp director; Mrs. Lenora Linna is the assistant director; and Mr. Leyden Thorpe and Miss Rita Beaudoin are counselors. Mrs. Ida Parret is the head cook.

The camp will operate for at least four weeks. Parents who desire to send their children to the camp may still apply by writing to Mr. Edmer Lacasse.

Children who are scheduled to attend the camp may meet at the Stephenson high school on Monday morning of each week. A school bus will leave Stephenson at 9:00 a. m. for the camp and will return to Stephenson on Saturday of the same week at about 2:00 p. m. Parents may transport their children directly to the camp on Monday.

HARVEY BACK FROM LANSING

Candidacy Given Warm Reception, Asserts Escanaban

George Harvey, candidate for the Republican nomination for the 11th district congressional seat at the special primary election July 29, reported yesterday upon his return from Lansing that he had received a generous reception in the various counties of the district that he had visited.

Harvey filed his nominating petitions in Lansing Monday after securing 2147 names on petitions that had circulated in four counties for less than five days.

The Escanaba Republican candidate declared that he contacted political leaders in several of the counties enroute to Lansing and that he was gratified by the manner in which his candidacy had been received. Among the cities visited by Harvey were Manistique, St. Ignace, Newberry, Charlevoix, Petoskey, Pellston and Mackinaw City.

The primary and special elections have been called by Gov. Sigler to fill the vacancy created by the death of Rep. Fred Bradley, of Rogers City.

Green Light Ahead

ESCANABANS who have been looking forward to the day when commercial air transport service will operate through here have cause for rejoicing in the defeat of an amendment offered by Senator Ball of Minnesota that would have deprived Class I, II and III airports of federal assistance.

If Senator Ball's amendment had been sustained by the senate—it had already been accepted by a senate subcommittee—the $20,000 allocation for the Escanaba airport would have been withdrawn and the city's hopes for airplane service in the near future would have dissolved.

Sensor Ball had proposed that the federal government allocate funds only for Class IV airports, the largest airports of the CAA system. The amendment was lobbied by the large cities that sought increased federal assistance at the expense of the smaller communities. The injustice of the amendment is obvious since most of the Class IV airports are already serving airline routes while the smaller cities still are awaiting the day when they will get air service.

Escanaba's airport has a Class III rating. The Wisconsin Central Airline already has a franchise to operate through the Upper Peninsula, with Escanaba as a port of call. The route cannot be opened, however, until runways are extended. Federal and state assistance must be provided to obtain the necessary improvements. The City of Escanaba has appropriated $15,000 as its share of the cost, but the whole project would have been lost if Senator Ball's amendment had been sustained by the senate.

The way the situation stands now, the Escanaba airport project as well as similar projects for airports on the proposed Upper Peninsula route has been given a green light. The way is cleared for commercial air transport service here at an early date.

Flying Saucers

THE accounts of unidentified saucers flying through the air, reported now from virtually every state in the union, may have been cause for mass hysteria but fortunately Americans have taken the stories of flying saucers calmly and with healthy skepticism.

With each passing day, more stories of flying saucers are reported but they gradually are taking on the aspect of ridiculousness. Although hundreds of persons have reported seeing disks flying through the air in various formations, there is virtually no agreement on the size of the objects, the height at which they are flying or, for that matter, on their color. The only common identification is that the flying objects are circular and scientists explain this by asserting that any object seen at great heights would appear circular. Most scientists are obviously skeptical about the existence of flying saucers and appear to attribute the phenomena to optical illusion.

Thus far not a single object that may be identified as a flying saucer has been recovered for study and identification. A report that a flying disk hit a Wisconsin church steeple proved only to be a circular saw. The "flying saucer" discovered in New Mexico was only a weather balloon.

Orson Welles who in 1938 scared Americans with a broadcast of an invasion from Mars said in Hollywood Tuesday, "I'll bet 10 to 1 this will fizzle out." And this seems to just about sum up the general attitude of the American people concerning the "flying saucers."

Russian Perfidy

RUSSIA'S charge that the Greek border disorders are the result of American and British interference in Greece's internal affairs is another example of Russia's perfidy in international conduct.

The Greek border disorders constitute an attempt by Communists, guided from Russia, to seize control of Greece, just as the Communists seized control in Hungary. The Communist troops are armed and supported by the Russian army. It was because of this brazen effort directed by the Soviet Union to seize power in Greece that the United States voted funds to strengthen the Greek resistance against the Communist threat.

In our dealings with the present Greek government, we have made no attempt to hide the fact that we are sending military missions to Greece and supplying military equipment with which the Greek people can resist Communist seizure. We are acting only to provide assurance to the war-impoorished Greek people that they will be given a chance to retain a government of their own choosing.

On the other hand, Russia's interference in Greek affairs has been underhanded and an obvious effort to finance a seizure of power by the Communist minority. Russia is seeking to do in Greece actually what she has accomplished in Hungary and in Poland.

If Russia would quit its program which is planned as Communist seizure of Greece, we would be more than happy to withdraw our military missions in Greece and our military assistance to the Greek government. In that event, we could use Americans' funds to better advantage in restoring the economic foundation of that country. Unfortunately we know that Russia will not pass up any chance to bring Greece under Soviet domination.

The Price Question

A CHICAGO mail order house is sending out seven million catalogues this month. The issue contains descriptions of 100,000 articles, and supposedly they will be available until next January at the prices quoted.

Getting out a big catalogue in times like these is a ticklish proposition. There are hundreds of price reductions from last spring, ranging as high as 26 per cent on men's fine fur-felt hats and 33 per cent on curtains for the kitchen. But many more price cuts expected to come from manufacturers haven't materialized, and some prices actually have had to be raised. For example, new high prices on wool blankets, farm trailers, telephone stands and bread boxes are quoted in the catalogue.

The most expensive item in the list is a diamond costing $1,666, and there are plenty of items at a nickel. Post-hole diggers are listed at $405.00. There is danger that these and thousands of other articles may slump materially in price between now and January, so the back outside cover is used to promise readers that they'll immediately get the benefit of any lowered costs that the concern gets from its manufacturers.

This particular house now sells three times as much merchandise through its own retail stores as it does through catalogues. Most of the catalogues go to farmers and small town folks, but many are mailed to big city customers, thousands of them in the city of Chicago, for instance. Not all of its merchandising is profitable. Ventures into the small auto, house trailer and home building business have been costly. With all their precautions, the big fellows sometimes get burned fingers, and this concern is buying from hand to mouth in the expectation that the long overdue price decline may still come through this year.

MARX VS. RUSSIA

(Christian Science Monitor)

Almost 100 years ago, Karl Marx wrote from London to the New York Tribune:

"The conflict between Russian despotism and Western democracy seems to be everlasting in the Balkans. Those who are working for the survival of democracy in Europe must introduce European arts, sciences, justice, liberty, and the spirit of independence into the Balkans."

A little later he wrote:
From time to time Russia pretends that it has no evil intentions against this or that nation, but merely wishes to protect it. Humanity should be on its guard against claims of protection on the part of Russia. Did they not claim to be the protectors of Poland at one time?

There is almost overwhelming irony today in Marx's conviction that the one potent enemy against Czarist Russia was "the European Revolution, the explosive force of democratic ideas and man's native thirst for freedom." Now, a strange compound of Marxist Revolution, and Slavic imperialism presents itself as a challenge to democracy in what Marx called "the conflict between the East and the West."

Here is evidence of something basically wrong in Marx's analysis of society when his system—intended to emancipate man—can be made the excuse for the very despotism he attacks. But here also is a rebuke to those sloppy thinkers who hold that it is impossible to live in the same world as Russia without war because the Russians are Marxists.

Perhaps the most revolutionary attitude of all is that which sees that the enemy is not merely a nation or a system but a despotic tendency of the human mind appearing to some degree in all societies. On this tendency, which would pervert even the best human ideals, the alert spiritual thinker trains his guns.

Take My Word For It . . .

Frank Colby

WHAT'S THE ORIGIN?

Q. To settle a dispute, please tell us the origin of "bonfire." Is it from "barnyard fire" or "bon fire"—the French "bon" meaning "good"?—W. W.

A. Sorry, neither is the correct origin. The word bonfire has a decidedly grisly origin. In the Middle Ages, ravaging plagues occurred frequently in Europe. Bodies of the victims were burned in huge funeral pyres called "bone fires" since no trace of the bodies remained save a few bits of charred bones.

It's hard to believe that your simple and fragrant backyard bonfire of autumn leaves is a "funeral pyre of human bones," but it's true.

Q. How did the jack, the face card, get its name?—U. T. C.
A. By false association with the king and queen, many persons assume that the jack represents a prince. But the jack is really a servant or soldier, for the word jack was once a slang term for "a man or boy of humble position," and still survives in such expressions as "Jack-of-all-trades; jack-in-the-box; lumberjack; steeple jack."

Further evidence of the modest status

World Events Analyzed

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Washington—Dwight P. Griswold, who will administer the United States aid program for Greece, is a patient man. As a politician and former governor of Nebraska, he knows how hard it is to get things done under our system of checks and balances.

For a good many hours Griswold was interrogated by the house appropriations committee in closed session. Committee members, particularly Chairman John Tabor, wanted to know why so much money was necessary for Greece. They wanted an itemized statement of how Griswold intended to spend the funds congress might make available to him.

This went on for several days, at a time when Griswold was struggling to get his staff together for the mission to Greece. Finally, in his quiet, patient way, he spoke his mind. According to one member of the committee who heard him with sympathy for his plight, what he said went something like this:

"Gentlemen, I think I know your problem. I've sat on the other side of the table. I understand your desire for economy. "But the program we will be administering in Greece cannot be spelled out in advance in exact needs and exact commodities. We will be doing a day-to-day job on the spot."

"The money that is requested is not a large sum in terms of the need. There is certainly no guarantee that we will succeed in Greece. We may fail in our objective, which is to help in the restoration of economic stability and political order. But, gentlemen, let me say this to you. If we fail in Greece, and if our occupation in Germany fails because it is starved out, then all of Europe will fall to Communism. If that happens, you will come back here and appropriate billions of dollars for armaments. You will do it because the American people will demand it for their security."

—GRISWOLD IS REPUBLICAN—
Spoken in Griswold's quiet voice, this made a deep impression on the committee. After all, Griswold is a Republican who was drafted for the trying assignment in Greece by the Democrat in the White House. He was addressing his fellow Republicans with all the earnestness at his command.

At the end of one of these closed sessions, Chairman Tabor told reporters that the State Department had not justified more than a small amount of the $400,000,000 authorized for Greece and Turkey. He said the same thing was true of the $850,000,000 authorized for general relief in Europe.

Here is an extraordinary situation. It is little understood in the midst of the general confusion that prevails in Washington. Congress took nearly three months to determine whether the Greek-Turkish program should be approved. It was debated pro and con from every possible angle. The die-hard isolationists had their say at great length. The risks of the policy were pointed out, and its limitations. Then, finally, the Senate and the House voted by sizeable majorities to approve the program. What few people understand is that this was authorization, but not appropriation.

Now comes the appropriations committee of the House to exercise a second veto. It is a veto not merely of the chief executive but of the policy agreed upon by the Congress.

—TABER IN SADDLE—
Supposedly, after funds are authorized, their appropriation is a routine to be carried out in the accepted legislative manner. If every policy is now to have to clear two hurdles, the pace at which we are moving in the world crisis will be slowed from a walk to a crawl.

Taber is usurping this power because he happens to stand in the all-powerful position by the turnstile. It would be hard to find any honest justification for the action by the committee in setting up a new road-block in front of a policy on which so much has been staked.

A large part of this obstructionism can be put down to the division between Republicans in congress and the Democrat in the White House. It is the kind of division which has occurred on the average in one out of every three years in our history. In 1919-20 it may have cost us the peace. This time it may cost the peace and something more.

Perhaps the Taber attitude is merely part of the irritation that goes with the ending of the Congressional session. Perhaps the committee will approve the money congress authorized. But those who, like Griswold, are waiting on the outcome may be pardoned a certain nervousness.

of the jack is found in his other name: the knave, a word that originally meant "a young male servant; a menial."

Q. What is the origin of the expression "of the first water"?—A. E. C.

A. Among diamond merchants "water" designates the limpidity and luster of a stone. A diamond of "the first water," or of "finest water," is one that is pure, transparent, and flawless. In much the same way, the term "river" is used. "Extra river" denotes a diamond of the finest quality.

Good Morning!

—By The Bugler—

GERMANS GO BEGGING—The people of Germany for reasons which continue to create one of the toughest problems in the world change from the "master race" to a race of beggars almost overnight.

People who would follow Hitler down the road of world domination to its last tragic ending now turn to the people of the United States for assistance. —The one-time (and would-be) rulers of the world now sit down to take their pen in hand and write begging letters to America.

Perhaps the most revealing part of what appears to be an organized campaign of appeal for aid is: The letter writers do not ask for information on our way of life, our government, or ask us to assist them in solving their problems. Instead they ask for material assistance so they may live more comfortably.

SAMPLE LETTERS —Escanaba's Mayor Marvin L. Coon has received two such letters within the past few weeks. One was written in German and addressed to the "burgemeister" of Escanaba, the other was written in English and addressed to "the town mayor."

Both letters were addressed to Escanaba, Wisconsin. There is no Escanaba in Wisconsin, of course, and the letters were forwarded here.

It is known in Germany, of course, that the state of Wisconsin has a large population of German descent. It is possible that in Germany there is an organized campaign of beggary addressed to Wisconsin people, and that the two letters received here were addressed to Escanaba because our town is near the Wisconsin border.

On a small map it would be difficult to tell whether Escanaba was in Michigan or Wisconsin.

DESIRE FOR THINGS—One of the letters received by Mayor Coon is revealing in the writer's outspoken desire for material things.

"Our paper shortly brought a list of the contents of a CARE package, and all the things and quantities which surpass my conception, arose in me the desire to obtain such a package. Having no relations in USA I should like to come into connection with people over there who could and would help me."

The other letter is equally materialistic in its outlook. "If you have the heart to help out some of the people over there or know some German friends who are willing to donate something to them as they are very poor. They were driven out of Prussia and are now in Schleswig Holstein trying to start life anew. They have a son 25 years old who is a college graduate and is working in court work and will eventually be a judge. They also have a daughter 22 years old. The father is an agricultural agent. What they need especially is cotton goods, such as shirts, dresses, handkerchiefs, etc."

NO SOLUTION—There can be no solution for the problem that is postwar Germany until the German people themselves realize that they have a problem. So long as the Germans believe their troubles can be solved by a complete return to their former comfortable standard of living, the longer will it take to teach them that a full Michigan continued to sweeter Wednesday as it endured the second day of the midwest heat wave.

A supervised recreation program, properly conducted, can be a decided benefit to Escanaba. W. G. Robinson, field representative of the National Recreation Association, said yesterday after making an inspection of the city's recreational possibilities and after conferring with the City Manager George Bean.

Escanaba's second state convention in three days will open this morning when members of the Michigan County Treasurer's association will hold their first meeting.

The Escanaba Yacht Club will hold its midsummer regatta Sunday afternoon on the north shore.

Paris—Commander Richard E. Byrd tonight told French newspaper men at a dinner in his honor here that he planned to start on his projected South Pole aerial expedition "before the end of the year."

Geneva—The crisis in the tripartite naval conference suddenly became worse tonight.

After making an ineffectual effort to break open the vault of the Escanaba high school building, late on Thursday night, an unidentified youth forced an entrance into the home of L. G. Sawdy, 908 Seventh avenue south.

Escanaba is going to have a week of outdoor amusements next week, as the Cloverland Post of the American Legion is bringing to this city the Morris and Castle shows "America's Representative Exposition Midway" at the Fair Grounds.

belly does not necessarily indicate a social conscience.

There are millions of people in Europe more in need and more deserving of assistance than are the Germans. Included among these are the peoples whose countries were ravaged, pillaged, and demoralized by the Germans during the war. The people of Germany feel no obligation toward their victims—including the United States—and as beggars try to make it appear that they alone suffered during the war.

PLENTY IN WARTIME—We have talked with war veterans who served with U. S. forces in the invasion of Germany who reported their amazement at finding the Germans well-fed and better clothed at the time of their defeat than were the people of France, Netherlands, and other countries. The conquerors had bled those countries dry.

In the disruption following final defeat, and in the division of control over Germany, the situation within Germany has undoubtedly worsened. The condition of the German people today is infinitely better off, however, than it was in wartime in Norway, France, Belgium, Denmark, Poland and other countries that felt the heel of Nazi oppressors.

PLIGHT OF THE GERMANS—It is true that a problem does exist among the people of Germany. It is the old problem of a people who have not—so far—found within themselves individualism and love of liberty that paves the way for self-government.

Individually the German mind is concerned with creature comforts and an intellectual sentimentality. Collectively the Germans feel an exalted dominance and superiority that needs but leadership to make it ruthless and destructive.

Therefore as individuals the Germans can write sentimental

Q. From where does the carbonic acid of close rooms and cities come?

A. From the lungs of the inhabitants, the sewers, the drains, and other like places in which organic substances are undergoing decomposition.

Q. Who founded Buddhism?

A. Sakya-Muni. Sakya is the family name of Siddhartha and Muni means a recluse. Buddha (perfection) is a title given to Siddhartha.

Q. What is a "hypostatic union"?

A. A union of two or more natures so intimate as to constitute one person. Thus the union of man and God in Christ is a hypostatic union.

Q. Do polar bears really live on ice?

A. Yes. Most polar bears live permanently on ice which, many times, is hundreds of miles from the nearest land.

Q. What is choke damp?

A. It is carbonic acid gas accumulated at the bottom of wells and pits, which renders them harmful and often fatal to life. It is called "choke" damp, because it chokes (or suffocates) every animal that inhales it. It suffocates without getting into the lungs, for it closes the glottis spasmodically.

Q. How many women have been elected to the Hall of Fame?

A. Five, Mary Lyon, Maria Mitchell, Alice Freeman Palmer, Harriet Beecher Stowe, and Emma Willard.

trading in American cigarettes, which was preferred to money as a medium of exchange. This wiping out of black markets, in turn, was a phase of the problem to help stabilize German economy.

Q. Why do persons walking arm in arm jostle each other unless they march or walk in unison?

A. Because when they are walking at a moderate rate the centre of gravity alternately falls over the right foot, then over the left foot. Therefore their bodies advance in a wavering line. When they walk in step, they advance more along a straight line.

begging letters to America while retaining that collective illusion of grandeur that may—unless redirected—again plunge the world into war in the future. The hope of Germany is that its people will break its chains with the past, and its tragedy is that they have so far shown no inclination to do so.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

Washington. — The weatherman may have some effect upon Secretary of State Marshall's foreign policy.

For the past five years bumper American crops have permitted us to dominate the world food situation —and thereby somewhat influence its politics. But now, bad weather at home plus good weather in Russia may partly reverse this situation.

Although the American wheat crop will be a record-breaker, other American grain crops are down. Unofficial studies of the world wheat situation made by the Agriculture Department indicate that Russia's wheat crop also will be greater than ever.

In fact, Russia, for the first time since before the war, should be able not only to end bread rationing at home but export about 300,000,000 bushels of wheat abroad. The Russians also are expected to bring in a rye crop of some 840,000,000 bushels, which should give them a surplus of about 100,000,000 bushels with which to play power politics.

While this may somewhat affect the Marshall plan for aiding European countries which cooperate with the Western European bloc, actually manufactured goods, particularly steel, still remain almost as important as food.

—SPEAKER MARTIN AND FDR—

Cagey Speaker Joe Martin used to fight the late President Roosevelt on a lot of things. But chatting with a friend the other day he remarked that it was a lot different visiting the White House when occupied by FDR.

"He was a great guy," reminisced Martin. "He had a way of talking about things that I never forget. He used to say to me, 'Joe, how are those Douglas firs up on the cape?'"

"I didn't know anything about any Douglas firs on the cape, and he knew I didn't. It was just his way of putting me in a hole."

—PLAYING HOSPITAL POLITICS—

One member of Congress alone, bull-headed Rep. Gene Cox of Georgia, has been able to block the construction of a badly needed veterans hospital.

Veterans Administrator Gen. Omar Bradley has offered the hospital built, and a congressional committee originally approved it. But Congressman Cox has said no.

Cox is sore because General Bradley has closed down another hospital in Cox's congressional district at Thomasville, Ga. The Georgia Hospital, composed of a group of temporary wooden buildings built by the army, was ruled out by General Bradley as a firetrap. Also, the plumbing was not sufficient to meet the sanitary requirements of a hospital.

Finally, General Bradley informed Congress that the cost of upkeep on this makeshift Georgia Hospital for six years would equal the cost of building a modern hospital 40 miles away in Tallahassee, Fla.

However, plans for the new Florida hospital were scarcely completed when Cox with the aid of his close crony on the rules committee, Congressman Howard Smith of Virginia, slipped an amendment into the independent offices appropriations bill, to stop construction at Tallahassee.

Congressman Cox has been bombarding the White House and the Veterans Administration, demanding that the wooden hospital in his district be reopened. Meanwhile maimed and sick veterans in that area are out of luck, all because of the peevishness of one Congressman.

NOTE—Cox has been drumming up votes for his hospital from Republicans by telling them that the Tallahassee project was a "political gift." President Roosevelt had promised Senator Claude Pepper, Tallahassee is Pepper's hometown, but he denies ever talking to FDR about the hospital.

—BATHTUBS FOR EUROPE—

Despite the critical shortage of cast iron for domestic uses, the Commerce Department last week decided to lift all export controls on the shipments of lavatories and bathtubs abroad.

Story behind this is that plumbing-fixture manufacturers have produced enough lavatories and bathtubs to equip more than a million new housing units in the United States during the current year. They had every reason to expect that these new homes would be built in 1947—but now they won't be.

The lifting of price controls by Congress has so crippled the housing program that the plumbing-fixture industry is saddled with a huge backlog of bathtubs and lavatories for which there is no home market. So the Commerce Department, to rescue the bathtub manufacturers, decided to let them sell to foreign customers.

Another example of the shortsightedness of Congressmen like Fred Hartley of New Jersey and those who pull the wires in the real-estate lobby!

A sense of fatuity fills the international air. The page of history just written in Paris turns out to have been in invisible ink.

"Bugsy? I don't know any Bugsy," said the Countess in the Siegel case, if she is a Countess.

Not only does Jim Farley never forget a name, but he remembers who called whom what.

Congress sees it now—but too late. A 60-day cooling-off period for the labor boss after reading the Taft-Hartley Law should have been written into the act.

AXIS WEAPONS ON DISPLAY—Through the courtesy of the Navy Club of the U. S. A., an accredited veterans' organization for Navy personnel of both wars, including the regular Navy, Naval Reserve, Coast Guard, Marines,

Five More Join Guard; Go To Camp Saturday

Five more young men of Delta county—all 17 years old and all of whom will attend the Michigan National Guard encampment at Camp Grayling July 12-26—joined Company C, 107th Engineer Combat Battalion, at the unit's regular drill at the State Fairgrounds Armory last night.

This brings the company roster to 70, which is believed to be the largest number in any National Guard company in the state. Of this number, nearly 40 will attend camp. This will give Escanaba the largest representation of any company in the Upper Peninsula.

The five men who joined last night and were issued equipment for camp were Calvin J. Johnson, 617 Superior avenue, Gladstone, and the following from Escanaba: Gordon J. Hermes, 523 North 15th street; Kenneth E. Murray, 307 North 14th street; Richard J. O'Donnell, 325 North 10th street, and John J. Robitaille, 213 Stephenson avenue.

The Delta county unit will move by truck convoy to Rapid River Saturday morning, meeting companies from Calumet and Marquette there at 7. The three companies will then move to St. Ignace to meet Company B, Sault Ste. Marie, there at 12:30. They will then cross the Straits and proceed to Camp Grayling.

Col. William F. Milford, Calumet, battalion commander; Maj. Leonard C. Ward, Menominee, operations officer, and Maj. James G. Ward Jr., Escanaba, executive officer, will attend the encampment.

Capt. Roy Johnson, Escanaba, is in command of the Delta county company, which will be transported in three two-and-one-half-ton trucks, one air compressor and one jeep.

William P. Lovett Of Detroit Dies

Detroit (AP)—The body of William P. Lovett, executive secretary of the Detroit Citizens League who died unexpectedly yesterday while vacationing near Asheville, N. C., will be returned here Thursday.

Lovett, 74, had been active in Detroit political affairs since 1916, was an advocate of good government, one of the behind-the-scenes figures in setting up the Homer Ferguson graft grand jury and editor of the Civic Searchlight which reviewed the political pedigrees of candidates for public office.

A minister's son, Lovett was born at Anoka, Minn., and spent his boyhood in New York city and various towns in New York state. He was graduated from two colleges before entering a theological seminary and for seven years served as a Baptist minister.

He took his first pastorate in Bay City in 1904, and later preached at Boise, Idaho, and Grand Rapids, and for awhile he was church editor for the Grand Rapids Press.

Work on Convent Commenced

An Escanaba contractor is in charge of work which commenced on the former hospital building at the crest of the Church Hill, Monday. This large building built by the late Edward Lamotte and used as a hospital for treatment of cancer, later changed into apartments and then remaining vacant for a few years, was recently purchased by Mrs. Catherine Bonifas and presented to the St. John the Baptist parish to be remodelled as a convent and school for religious training. Back of the building are several acres of beautiful woodland which has already been cleaned up. The land adjoining this to the west and skirting the bay, has also been acquired and is a portion of the gift.

Originally built to be given a stucco facing, work is now going forward to apply brick veneer. In the interior, considerable remodeling and redecorating will be necessary to prepare classrooms and living rooms for the Sisters that will be in charge of the educational work.

Fish Bites Woman!

Willie Wells was coming home from Seward's Creek the other evening with a string of trout, when a stern looking lady (visitor at the Boxwood Inn) stops him, and tells him a man his size could be better occupied than catching fish.

Willie tells her off real good-naturedly by saying: "Perhaps you're right, but if these fish had kept their mouths shut, they wouldn't be here." (At that, says Willie, laughing out loud, she looked just as if a fish had bit her!)

Blabbing mouths never cause anything but trouble. Nobody who knew the facts would ever criticize Willie's right to go fishing on his one day off—any more than they'd deny his right to come home to a mellow glass of beer.

From where I sit, the slower we are to criticize—and the quicker we are to recognize another's tastes, the better we'll get along together—whether those tastes apply to beer or fishing.

Engels Retires As Freda Mill Head

Hancock — Andrew L. Engels, superintendent of the Freda Mill of the Copper Range company, has retired from service, as of July 1.

For the past 19 years, Mr. Engels has been connected with the Copper Range company in its milling department. He had charge of the reconstruction of its crushing, milling and concentration plants at Freda, which has been converted from a steam-operated plant to one operated by electric power throughout. Mr. Engels also directed the installation of the tailings reclamation plant at Freda about seven years ago.

Prior to his return from Arizona to the Copper Country of Michigan about 19 years ago, Mr. Engels was mechanical engineer for the Calumet and Arizona Mining company in Arizona. Later he became mechanical engineer for the Shattuck-Denn Mines at Bisbee, Arizona, during which time he supervised the construction of its crushing and concentrating plant for the treatment of lead and silver ores at Lowell, Arizona. Subsequently, Mr. Engels designed the mill of the North Tigua Leasing company at Sonora, Mexico, for the treatment of gold-bearing ores produced by that company.

Hiawatha Forest Work Is Little Affected By Agriculture Fund Cut

Although a reduction of funds appropriated to the U. S. Department of Agriculture for the fiscal year beginning last July 1 will result in the suspension of some forest work projects in the Hiawatha and Marquette National Forests, there will be no sharp curtailment of employment in these two areas, Paul A. Wohlen, Escanaba, supervisor of the Upper Michigan National Forest, said here yesterday.

The fund cut, expected soon to be enacted into law, will result only in the suspension of blower rust control and the purchase of additional lands for the U. S. Forest Service, he said, but all other projects will be continued.

During the fiscal year ending last July 1, a total of 4,000,000 jack and Norway pine trees were planted in 3,367 acres in the Hiawatha and Marquette National Forests, or an average of approximately 1,200 per acre.

More Trees This Year

Despite the fund cut, it is expected that approximately 5,000,000 trees will be planted during the current fiscal year. In addition, the chief work of the Forest Service this year will be fire control—a never-ending project—timber sales, also a major project of the service, and road maintenance.

"It is not generally realized that timber sales constitute an important project of the Forest Service," Mr. Wohlen declared. "During the last fiscal year, 14,211,000 board feet of timber, most of which is pulp wood and valued at $76,341, was cut.

"Sales during the last fiscal year aggregated $88,800. The amount sold was 15,500,000 board feet. Part of this money reverts to the counties in which the national forests are located."

Contrary to reports prevalent in some points in the Upper Peninsula, there will be no sharp reduction in the size of Forest Service woods crews, he pointed out.

Seasonal Layoffs Customary

Seasonal layoffs are customary in the Forest Service. For instance, fire control men are hired on a fulltime basis only during the seven-month fire season from March through September, and many of them work parttime during the off-season.

Extra employees also are hired during the spring and fall planting seasons. During the six-month spring planting season in the Hiawatha and Marquette National Forests, 125 workers were employed for planting. These men are not on the rolls now.

Approximately 30 men are hired on a fulltime basis in the two forests for road maintenance. Fulltime employees of the Forest Service, it was pointed out, are not affected by the department fund cut.

State To Sell Surplus Cattle Here On July 21

Michigan State Institutions will hold their first upper peninsula sale at the fair grounds at Escanaba Monday, July 21 at 1 p. m. State Institutions have been holding annual sales of their surplus registered Holsteins for the past five years but this is the first to be held in the Upper Peninsula.

A total of 47 head of heifers and bulls will be sold. Twenty are being consigned from the two Upper Michigan institutions, the Newberry State Hospital and the Upper Peninsula Branch Prison and House of Correction at Marquette. Michigan Institutions have been breeding registered Holsteins for sixty years and it becomes necessary from time to time to dispose of surplus animals that are not needed for herd replacements.

Many outstanding records of production have been made in these herds during the past years, included among these is the World Record Senior two year old, Marquette Inka DeKol, 2127687, in the Marquette herd with 915.8 pounds of fat. Every cow in the state herds is on official test for production and every cow and bull eligible is officially classified for type. There is at present a total of 1,350 cows in production in all state herds and the total number of animals of all ages is slightly in excess of 2,700 head.

The sale is being sponsored by the Michigan department of agriculture, and managed by A. B. Clark, coordinator of the bureau of institutional farms. C. B. Smith of Williamston, Michigan, will be the auctioneer.

DIES IN WYOMING — Earl J. French, 62, one of the founders of the Escanaba Motor company here, died at 6 o'clock yesterday morning in Casper Memorial hospital, Casper, Wyoming. He had been suffering from a heart ailment for about four years but was seriously ill only two days.

Mr. French was born in Frankfort, Ontario, June 27, 1885, and resided in Germfask before coming to Escanaba about forty years ago. After quitting the automobile business here seven years ago, he went to Wyoming, where he became associated with the Investors' Oil company of which he was president.

He is survived by his widow, one son, Paul Robert French, 6, and three daughters.

Mr. French was a member of the Blue Lodge, Commandery, Shrine and Chapter of the Masonic Order and also was affiliated with the B. P. O. E. No. 354.

The body will be brought to Escanaba and will be in state at the Alto funeral home Monday evening. Funeral services will be held at the funeral home Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. James G. Ward, rector of St. Stephen's Episcopal church, will officiate, and Masonic rites will be conducted at the service. Burial will be in Lakeview cemetery.

Business, School, Labor Management Leaders Unite Under Church Sponsorship

"Democracy cannot exist where individuals and groups of individuals seek first satisfaction of their personal interests," declared Rev. Burt Bouwman of Lansing at a conference of secular leaders with the clergy yesterday morning at the First Presbyterian church.

Philosophy behind the program, designed to create numerous goodwill conferences throughout Michigan, stated Reverend Bouwman, is that today groups such as labor and management, business, education, and many others are at odds, each seeking their own selfish interests. This constitutes a detriment to the whole of our society and will eventually undermine it.

The church is assuming the role of reconciliator with the groups for by her tradition and position she is qualified to do so; primarily because no vested interest is involved.

At the meeting yesterday, to discuss a goodwill conference program, were Miss Jeanette Simmons, State Health Department in Escanaba, Miss Louise Grimm, County Health department; Robert Bowman of the Public Relations department of Michigan State Health; Einar Erlandsen, H. D. Brackett, J. J. Bartella, Wallace Watt, the Reverends James Bell, James Ward and Glenn Kjellberg, O. H. Anderson of Gladstone, Rev. Cliff Peterson of Gladstone, Charles Folio and Rev. Emory Pokrant of Bark River.

The group, meeting with Reverend Bouwman who is executive secretary of the Michigan Council of Churches and Christian Education, decided yesterday to meet again in two weeks to formulate plans for a conference to be held for three days either in August of this year or June of the next.

A great deal of interest was elicited by Escanaba and Gladstone leaders. The conferences can draw on resource people from the Lower Peninsula as well as Upper Michigan and can also discuss any topic it deems significant in the community.

Some of the problems brought to the fore in a series of 14 goodwill conferences held all ready this year were, World Peace, Race Relations, Economic interests between occupational groups, Town and country relations, migratory workers, and the community, community welfare, anti-Semitism, and the role of the church in education.

At the conference yesterday Charles Folio was selected as temporary chairman to be assisted by a committee which he will appoint later.

The conferences aim to bring about understanding and fellowship with proper recognition in all fields of activity.

Ollie Thatcher Advertises U. P.

Make the Upper Peninsula known in an inexpensive manner.

The suggestion of O. V. Thatcher, of Escanaba, that every Upper Peninsula businessman use the expression "The Upper Peninsula of Michigan" on his stationery, shipping labels or tags has received the endorsement of George E. Bishop, secretary-manager of the U. P. Development Bureau.

"The failure of many residents in Lower Michigan and other states to comprehend the magnitude of this state to a point where it includes the Upper Peninsula is still very evident from correspondence received and in advertising used," Bishop said.

"Mr. Thatcher's suggestion certainly is a good one. Such inexpensive, continuous and Peninsula-wide publicity effort will help materially in revealing that the Peninsula is part of the great state and worthy of such recognition."

Chatham

Seppi-Powell

Chatham, Mich.—Miss Mildred Seppi, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Seppi of Forest Lake, became the bride of Gary Powell, son of Mr. and Mrs. August Heckla of Alhambra, Calif., at a ceremony performed by the Rev. O. A. Koski at 8 p. m. July 25 at St. Mark's church, Marquette.

The bride wore a floor length white satin dress with a fingertip veil fastened with a beaded crown and carried a shower bouquet of white asters and red roses with white satin streamers studded with mums. Her only jewelry was a string of pearls.

The maid of honor was Miss Marcella Wester, who wore a floor length blue satin dress with matching veil and wore a corsage of salmon gladioli. Miss Alice Laakso was bridesmaid. Miss Laakso wore pink satin with a matching veil and wore a corsage of pink carnations and blue bachelor buttons. Leslie Wester was best man and Edwin Seppi, cousin of the bride, was Miss Laakso's escort.

Mrs. Powell is a graduate of Mather high school, Munising, Class of 1945. Before her marriage she was employed in Marquette. For the last six months she has been visiting relatives in California with her mother.

Mr. and Mrs. Powell will make their home in Alhambra, Calif. where the groom is employed.

On July 26 a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents for relatives and close friends. Out-of-town guests attending the reception were, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Mielmi, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Kaukola, Mr. and Mrs. Toivo Maki, Trenary, and Mrs. M. Mason, Marquette.

The young couple left for California last weekend.

BUILDING AT MARINETTE—One of the largest industrial building projects under construction in this area at this time is the above structure being erected by Ansel Chemical Company of Marinette, on its property at the foot of Stanton Street. This scale model by Roy Winters of Boycraft Models, Green Bay, shows how the building will look when completed some time next year.

The building consists of three units integral with each other. It is a part of Ansel's long range building replacement and modernization program. On the extreme left is the chemical manufacturing unit; in the foreground to the right is the employee change-house and the remainder will be used for filling and shipping operations and warehouse space.

Overall dimensions of the entire structure are 305 feet long by 150 feet wide. Concrete, steel and brick are being used in its construction and all new equipment of the latest and most modern type will be installed. Erling Arntzen, general contractor, Escanaba, is following plans and specifications prepared by Somerville & Griggs, Green Bay.

Barbershop Singing Spreads Over U. S.

Milwaukee, Wis. — That humming in the ears experienced by Milwaukeeans during the last few days was not the birds and the bees, despite the rumor that spring is just around the corner, but quartets—barbershop quartets—warming up with a "Sweet Adeline" here and a "Mandy Lee" there, in preparation for the vocal derby to determine the international champion foursome—barbershop, that is.

If anyone should ask the why and wherefore of barbershop quartets, the answer will be longer than he expects: The Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barbershop Quartet Singing in America, Incorporated, was in town holding its ninth annual convention and song-fest.

Evening and, at the drop of a pitch pipe, singing delegates from most of the 48 states, and from Canada, were here to listen to 30 quartets—the regional champions—give their all vocally to such favorites as "Down by the Old Mill Stream," "Dear Old Girl," and "Love's Old Sweet Song" in an effort to get as close as possible to the 2,000 points which represent perfection, in barbershop singing.

Ten Session
Barbershop singing is a vocal jam session for four male voices, unaccompanied. Melody, time, and words, are subordinated to harmonizing. The boys love "boom boom-boom boom," and the "swipes," or harmonizing chords—sometimes as many as five—on each melody note. The melody usually is sung by the lead, with the tenor, comparable to high alto, being above the lead, and the baritone and bass rounding out the parts.

Sartorially, barbershoppers aim to please, too. Represented here were tough-looking Bowery boys in turtle-neck sweaters and over-size caps, Spanish cavaliers, modern haberdashery models in dapper white flannels and dark jackets, straw skimmers, buttonhole carnations, and carrying jaunty canes, and "gay nineties" get-ups, featuring tight, ankle-length trousers, single-breasted jackets that buttoned practically up to the chin, high collars, flamboyant ties, handlebar mustaches, and fetching hangs peeping out from under bowler hats. No one can try say that vaudeville is gone as long as SPEBSQSA is the lively organization it is.

Convention judges had a tough time deciding among the five finalists, but the audience which packed the Milwaukee Auditorium for both the semi-finals and the finals, loved every minute of the affair and made no secret of it.

The champs turned out to be the Doctors of Harmony of Elk-hart, Ind., consisting of "Jumbo" Smith, Max Grimes, "Butch" Hummel, and Lee Kidder. Second place for the sixth successive year went to the Lions Club Serenaders of Kansas City, Mo., while the Mid-states Four, of Chicago, the Rock Island, Ill., Chordoliers, and the Westinghouse boys of Pittsburgh, took third, fourth and fifth places, respectively.

Each of these quartets sang, as did the audience, the "Chorus of 6,200," under the direction of George W. Campbell, during the portion of the festivities that was broadcast to the United States and Canada.

Barbershoppers, of course, sing primarily for the fun of it, but they don't confine their enjoyment to themselves. Most of the quartets sing occasionally or regularly at veterans' homes and hospitals, for shut-ins, and at community celebrations, as well as their own barbershop "parades." Harmonizing seems to be good for the morale, for the barbershoppers seem to be an extraordinarily cheerful and happy bunch of fellows.

SPEBSQSA is a youthful organization, even though its activities hark back to the era of individual, initiated shaving mugs, when the tenor's soapy shaving brush had to be suspended until a particularly mellow chord of "Garland of Roses" faded away into silence so it wouldn't be jabbed into the open mouth of the baritone, under towels in the chair. In 1938, Owen C. Cash, a Tulsa, Okla., tax attorney, who liked to sing but to whom soloing in the bathtub wasn't enough, invited 14 of his friends to "peaceful assembly for enjoyment of the last remaining vestige of human liberty—barbershop quartet singing." Thirty-two—enough for eight quartets—showed up, and practically before they could warble "You Tell Me Your Dreams," potential and theretofore repressed barbershoppers from all over the country were writing to Cash to tell him their hopes of being one of a quartet, and asked how it could be arranged.

Today, SPEBSQSA has 359 chapters in the United States and Canada, with more than 20,000 members including not only the "butcher, the baker, the candlestick maker," but also the "doctor, lawyer, merchant, and chief."

As a 10th anniversary tribute to its founder, the Society will hold its 1948 convention in Mr. Cash's home state of Oklahoma, in Oklahoma City. Charles Merrill, of Reno, Nev., was elected International President of SPEBSQSA for the year beginning July 1.

What happened in Milwaukee should happen to everybody, because it just goes to prove that people have more fun than anybody, and that, mathematically, quartets have four times as much fun as people.

In 1800 the United States had only 335 profit-seeking corporations—mostly turnpike, bridge and canal companies; only six were manufacturing concerns.

Tale Of Fur-Bearing Trout Boosts Salida

Salida, Colo.—A strange success story in reverse has achieved one of its climaxes in a full presidential pardon recently granted to Wilbur B. Foshay, which restores him to full citizenship.

Mr. Foshay is a dynamic, sweet-natured, rotund man who a score of years ago was one of the most publicized business figures in the country as head of Foshay Enterprises, which built a 34-story skyscraper in Minneapolis. He was reputed at one time to control half a billion dollars worth of private utility company in a score of states.

VISITED HERE

Wilbur B. Foshay made several business trips to Escanaba when he was engaged in the utility business in Minneapolis. He came to this city in connection with business transactions with the National Pole company and the Kirstin Stump Puller company.

When the 1929 crash came, Mr. Foshay was the one utility promoter who went to jail. But in the four-year interim before that, after he had lost his fortune, he was in this little city in the high Rockies, managing the Mountain Cross Granite Company which was owned by eastern friends.

Alert C. of C. Secretary
He was sentenced to seven years in Leavenworth, served three, and was paroled by President Roosevelt at the earnest and continued request of many friends.

He had made so many friends in Salida by his unaffected friendliness, and so impressed the community, that upon his parole he became Secretary of the Salida Chamber of Commerce at $1,800 a year. It was an effort for this little city of fewer than 5,000 people to provide a sufficient budget, but it did.

Mr. Foshay richly repaid Salida. He originated highway signs inviting tourists to the town. He originated the winsome fable of the fur-bearing trout.

Fur-Bearing Trout
After one had visited Salida and made oneself known to Mr. Foshay one would, as like as not, receive a mysterious letter and package. The letter would accuse one in ambiguous terms of having broken the law by catching a fish too small to keep. The package would contain the fish, a plastic model—clothed from gills to tail in brown "fur."

If one doesn't think this simple little stunt, resulting in hundreds of little fur-bearing trout hanging in trophy rooms throughout the country, and with proud recipients uproariously telling the tale—if one doesn't think this aided Salida, that person is wrong.

U. S. - Wide Publicity
The city, perched in the Upper Arkansas River Valley beyond the Royal Gorge, surrounded by huge mountains with hundreds of trout streams, was in position to profit.

One inference was that these clear mountain streams rushing down from 14,000-foot peaks were so cold that the trout had to grow fur to stand the chill.

A two-foot fur-bearing trout hangs in the Chamber of Commerce office. Mr. Foshay never let down his guard. Upon being questioned about it: "Honest now, Mill, what kind of fur is that?" he would respond gravely, "Trout fur."

Also he carried on good-humored arguments about the genesis of the fur-bearing trout with like-minded secretaries throughout the United States. He worked tirelessly for good roads and for the interests of the five Rocky Mountain states of which he said Salida was the crossroads.

Loyal To Salida
About a year ago he left the Chamber of Commerce and became assistant manager of what he calls the largest trout farm in the world, near Salida, where speckled beauties are shipped as far as a thousand miles or more for connoisseurs.

But he has not ceased to publicize Salida. He had many offers to move to larger towns, to become secretary of associations for good roads, to accept financial backing and set up his own public relations firm. But he has said he never would leave Colorado. Colorado, in turn, is proud of him as a man and a citizen.

Funeral services for Mrs. Henry Dubord, of Escanaba, will be held at 9 a. m. Thursday at St. Patrick's church, with the Rev. Fr. Melican officiating. Burial will be made in Holy Cross cemetery.

"CIGARET STATE"

The four cigarette plants in North Carolina produce more cigarettes than the combined remaining plants, located in nine other states.

Sorry, but we can't be better than great. Talking about THE HUCKSTERS, previewers say it's not only better than the best-selling novel, but add that it's the best Hollywood picture in years. The cast is perhaps the most perfect ever assembled, starting with those two great stars

CLARK GABLE and DEBORAH KERR

(her name rhymes with star), and continuing through Sydney Greenstreet, Adolphe Menjou, Ava Gardner, Keenan Wynn and Edward Arnold.

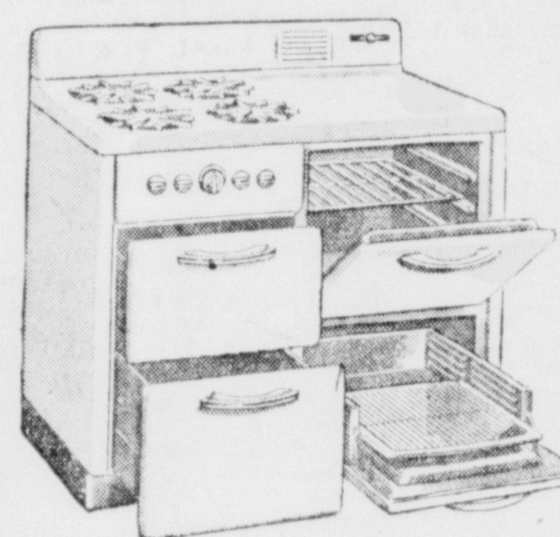

M-G-M'S "THE HUCKSTERS" is a genuine treat, romantic, absorbing, amusing, and altogether satisfying.

Cecile Boyle
And William J.
Buchholtz Wed

Cecile Lorraine Boyle, of 218 North 12th street, daughter of Edward F. Boyle, North Bay Shore, and William J. Buchholtz, son of Mrs. Mary Buchholtz, of 508 South 13th street, were united in marriage at a ceremony performed by Rev. Fr. Howard V. Drolet, at a 6:30 o'clock mass at St. Patrick's church on Wednesday.

Attendants at the ceremony were Miss Mary Boyle, sister of the bride, and Paul Buchholtz, brother of the bridegroom.

The bride wore a dusty rose dressmaker suit with white accessories and corsage of pink and white flowers. Her sister wore a blue dressmaker dress with white accessories and a corsage of pink flowers. Mrs. Buchholtz, the bridegroom's mother, wore a white dress with white accessories and white flowers formed her corsage.

A wedding breakfast was served in the private dining room of Bell's restaurant for immediate family members.

Following a wedding trip to Chicago, and Mishawaka, Indiana, the couple will live in Escanaba. Both young people are graduates of Escanaba high school.

MISSING YOUTH MURDER SOLVED

Jobless Detroit Worker
Tells Of Fight; Body
Left In Swamp

Detroit, July 9. (AP)—Prosecutor James N. McNally said tonight George B. Coapman, 31, admitted fighting with young Richard Schweitzer May 10 and leaving him unconscious in an Oakland county swamp.

A month ago Coapman, an unemployed factory worker, was arrested in an alleged attempt to extort $8,000 from Schweitzer's mother. Police have questioned him intermittently since that time.

Prosecutor McNally said Coapman admitted fighting with Schweitzer, 19, after driving into Oakland county. Coapman said he knocked his younger companion unconscious and rolled the body into the bog, McNally reported.

Schweitzer's decomposed body was found by berry pickers last Saturday, almost two months after he had disappeared from his Detroit rooming house.

In mid-June Coapman was seized in a police trap here in what officers called a crude extortion plot against Mrs. Marie Schweitzer, 56-year-old hospital dietitian.

Mrs. Schweitzer had been ordered to leave $8,000 in a package by a cemetery fence. Coapman, who was arrested in the vicinity, has been held on $25,000 bond on an extortion warrant to which he has pleaded guilty.

Police Inspector Joseph Krug said Coapman at the time insisted his scheme was a hoax and that he had no knowledge of the whereabouts of Mrs. Schweitzer's son.

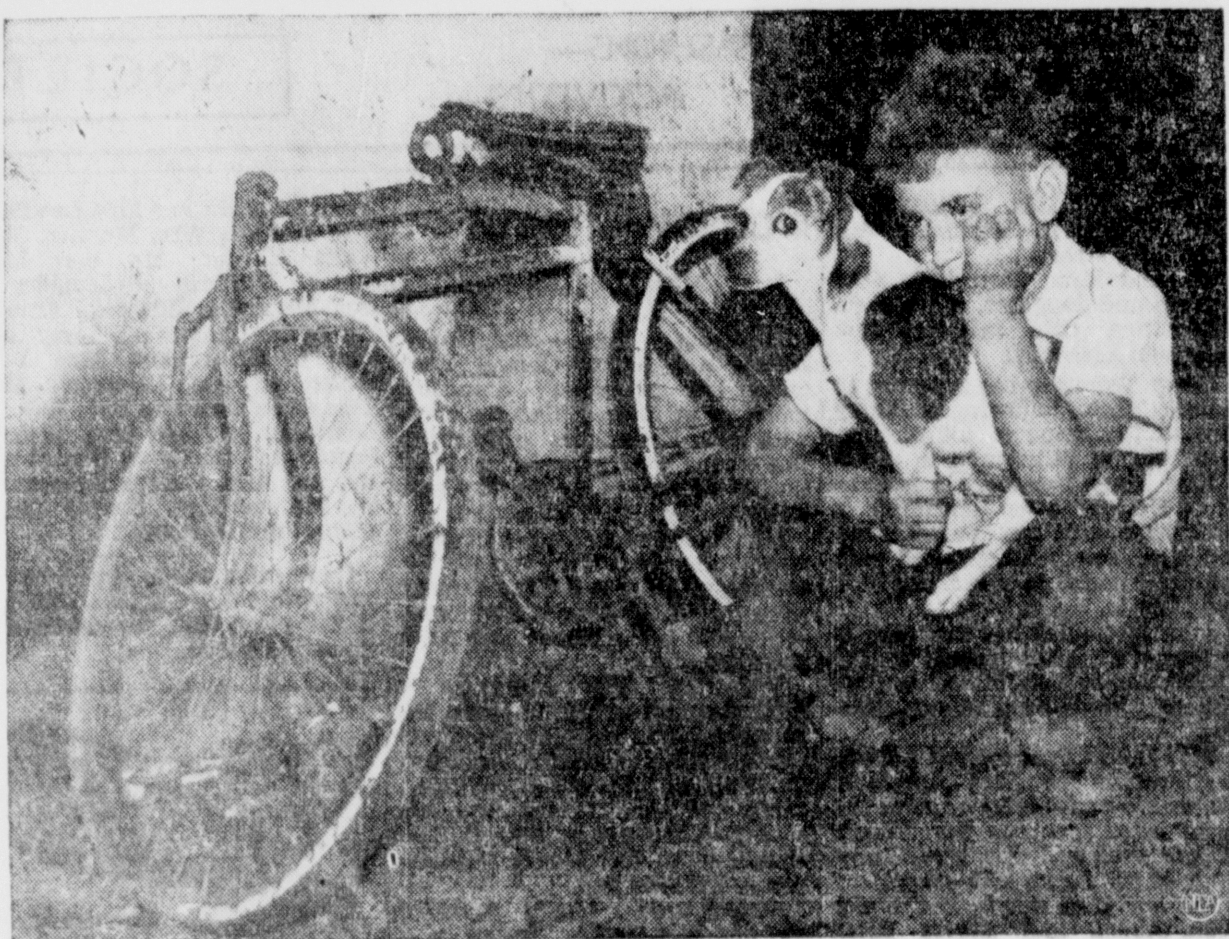

McNally said Coapman related details of his fight with Schweitzer, but the prosecutor declared he was not satisfied the complete story had been told.

Coapman, the prosecutor said, told of arguing with Schweitzer over $10 owed him by the youth. A girl friend's name also figured in the dispute, McNally quoted Coapman as saying.

After Schweitzer had been knocked down, he fled and Coapman caught him after a quarter-mile chase and struck him again, McNally said.

This time Schweitzer was knocked unconscious and Coapman rolled and pushed the body into the swamp near Lake Orion, McNally said he was informed.

Two Cleveland-Cliffs Corporations Merged

Columbus, O., July 9 (AP)—The Cleveland-Cliffs Iron Co., and the Cliffs corporation of Cleveland were merged today under articles filed with the secretary of state to form a new corporation, the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company.

The new corporation has a capitalization structure of 3,000,000 shares of $1 par common stock and 500,000 shares of $100 par value preferred stock.

The old Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company had 410,000 shares of $1 par common stock, and 500,000 shares of no-par preferred stock, while the Cliffs corporation had 810,000 shares of $5 par common stock.

Under the exchange of shares as listed in the articles, holders of the present Cliffs corporation stock will receive 2 1/4 shares of the new corporation common stock for each share held. The outstanding common stock of the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company will be cancelled, and holders of preferred shares will receive one share of the new preferred stock

Heads Of 105 Unions Agree To Challenge Taft-Hartley Bill

Washington, July 9 (AP)—The heads of 105 AFL unions unanimously agreed today to challenge the constitutionality of the Taft-Hartley labor bill in the courts and work for the defeat of every member of Congress who supported the measure.

The AFL leadership, assembled in emergency session by President William Green, decided also to wipe out future "no strike" provisions in all AFL contracts.

A five-man committee drew up a declaration of policy which was adopted by more than 250 top representatives of all AFL unions.

"Because we believe many of the provisions of the Taft-Hartley bill are unconstitutional, we will challenge the validity of said sections in the courts," it said.

Meanwhile, the AFL will press for repeal of the law "as a slave measure, un-American, vicious and destructive to labor's constitutional rights."

Hartley said.

Only the withholding of union dues from paychecks is authorized, Hartley went on, and therefore the operators who signed have "agreed to pay money for an illegal reason." He continued:

"In my opinion, this agreement clearly reflects collusion between the mine operators and the UMW with the intention of violating the law.

"For example the contract covers the employment of miners only during the time as 'such persons are able and willing to work.' The law meant for labor unions to become responsible organizations."

Lawyer At Niles Appointed Public Service Chairman

Lansing, July 9 (AP)—Governor Sigler made formal announcement today of the appointment of Stuart B. White, Niles attorney, as chairman of the Public Service Commission.

White is Berrien County Republican campaign chairman and was active in Sigler's primary campaign. He has practiced law in Niles since 1919 and was city attorney there from 1920 to 1926.

Appointed for a six-year term, White will head the new three-man commission created by the legislature at the request of the governor. The only member of the old five-man commission reappointed was Schuyler Marshall of St. Johns.

Retiring members of the commission are Gilbert T. Shilson of East Lansing and John A. Schouten of Grand Rapids.

Sun Spoils Record Of Milwaukee Road At Staff Meeting

Green Bay, Wis., July 9 (AP)—The shrill note of the shop fire siren interrupted a Milwaukee road staff meeting at which Division Superintendent F. T. Buechler was congratulating his associates for winning the railroad system's fire prevention trophy.

The sun's rays through a curved rear window of the superintendent's inspection car had ignited a flare on a back shelf. Buechler estimated the loss at $15 plus a record of 18 months without a fire.

SIGN TELLS ALL

Hugo, Okla., July 9 (AP)—A sign at the farm of Harland Ellis, who recently lost 65 frying chickens to thieves, indicates it won't happen again.

The text: "Anyone found near my chicken house at night will be found there in the morning."

Leola Anderson To Teach Spanish In Stephenson H. S.

Miss Leola Anderson of Wallace, has been engaged by the board of education to teach Spanish and English in the Stephenson high school.

It is the first time that Spanish is being introduced in the school system.

Miss Anderson graduated from the Stephenson high school in 1942. She was awarded a scholarship at the North Park College and received her Associate of Arts Degree in 1944. She matriculated at the Bob Jones College in Cleveland, Tennessee and earned the B. A. Degree on May 26, 1947.

Miss Anderson was very active in extra curricular activities. She was a member of the YWCA, the Education Club, Festival Chorus, Pegasus, Sigma Sigma Sigma Sorority, Treasurer of the Spanish Club and Art Editor of the Sigma News.

Miss Anderson taught English for one year in the Harris Township schools.

Miss Anderson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Anderson of Wallace.

Daughter, 16, Taken From Father Who Chained Her To Bed

Knoxville, Tenn., July 9 (AP)—For chaining his 16-year-old daughter Geraldine to a bedpost, W. M. Massengill, 50-year-old part-time preacher and paper-hanger, lost custody of the girl and drew a $50 fine today.

Massengill pleaded guilty in juvenile court to charges of criminal neglect and abusive treatment of a minor child.

Judge H. B. Webster imposed a $50 fine on the father and also levied a fine of a like amount upon Mrs. Ellen Massengill, Massengill's third wife and step-mother of the girl, but suspended payment of the latter.

"Massengill agreed for the court to take charge of his daughter," the judge said. "I'll find some place for her to live."

The frail, 90-pound girl was found last week by police shackled by an eight-foot trace chain to a bedpost at her home. Police Chief Joe Kinney said she tearfully told him she had been chained by her father to keep her from going out.

Allied Powers Get Japanese Warships, Last Of Big Fleet

Pearl Harbor, July 9 (AP)—The break-up of the remnants of Japan's once great fleet, which extended the empire's wartime domain across much of the Pacific, started with the delivery of 32 warships to four Allied powers early this month, the Navy reported today.

Eight destroyers and destroyer escorts were delivered to the Soviet Union, China, Britain and the United States at Pacific ports.

Drawing for the second group of eight ships each is scheduled for July 15 at Tokyo.

Mrs. Riegel Accepts Chairmanship Of Red Cross Blood Donation

Chairmanship for the Red Cross Blood Donors Committee has been accepted by Mrs. C. L. Riegel, it was announced yesterday by George Lindenthal, Chapter Chairman of the Delta County Red Cross. The blood clinic, with a staff of four nurses and one doctor, will be conducted at the junior high school gymnasium Aug. 11 to 14.

Plans for the administration of the program, designed to supply whole blood and plasma for civilian hospital use, are now being formulated. This year, donors will have their blood typed and factored for the Rh element and will be informed of the results.

The Red Cross office will also receive tabulated results of the typing to be kept on file for reference in case of emergency needs.

Though the war is over and the need for whole and fresh blood as well as plasma seems lesser, a great amount is still needed in civilian hospitals, both in accident cases and the medical and surgical aspects of hospitalization.

Veteran's Parents
No Longer Need To Prove Dependency

It is no longer necessary for the parents of veterans to prove their dependency to apply for the $500 Michigan veteran bonus payment, according to the terms of a recent statute.

The attention of parents of veterans eligible to receive the bonus has been directed to the new law by the Delta county Office of Veterans Affairs. Any parent is now eligible regardless of whether they were dependent on their veteran son.

The OVA office, located in the Escanaba National Bank building, has form letters available for those who wish to make application for payment of the bonus.

Marquette, Mich. — Fish delivery by air, That's how the Fleury family of Big Bay received their supply of Lake Superior trout Sunday in time for a nice supper that same evening.

Harry Bottrell, 1240 North Third street, and Gerald Wolf, Big Bay, were trolling Sunday afternoon on the lake, six miles north of the Big Bay Lighthouse.

They had a good catch of fish, and suddenly had some "company", from the air. Emerson Fleury, Big Bay, who owns a Piper Cub equipped with pontoons for landing on water, piloted his ship over the fishermen and decided to have a "take see."

The fishermen gave Fleury two sizeable trout, which Fleury took home in his plane.

Those form letters available for those who wish to make application for payment of the bonus.

Let Us Repair It Before You Regret It

There's an old saying about a stitch in time saving nine

This is especially true of
RADIATOR REPAIRS

A plugged or leaky radiator can spoil your vacation trip. Have it STEAM-CLEANED here before you start. This method removes all of the rust and sludge and will insure a cool running motor for warm weather driving. We'll check it at the same time and make sure that there are no leaks to cause you trouble later.

Our experts are really "work horses" when it comes to adjusting your brakes. To give you safe, sure stops, here is what we do:

- ★ Check the hydraulic lines and master cylinder . . . add brake fluid if necessary.
- ★ Remove the front wheels and check the lining.
- ★ Adjust the brake shoes for proper contact.
- ★ Clean and repack front wheel bearings.
- ★ Equalize the brakes for smooth, straight stops.

Hopes to Break Record With Model T

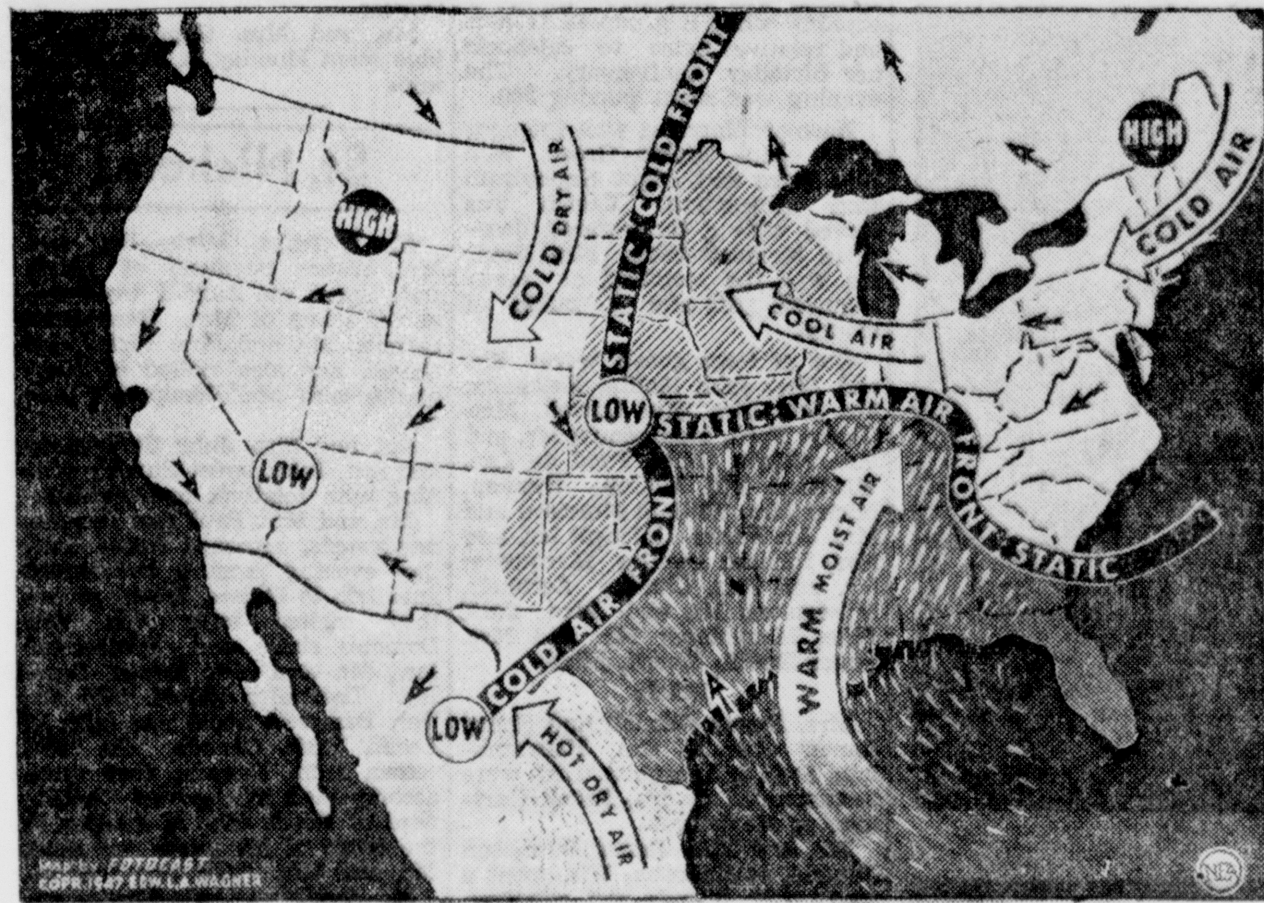

Wonder what became of the model T? Well, Frank Hovevar, of Chicago, Ill., is out to prove it's as dependable as ever. Here he is pictured with his 1927 model T Ford in New York City prior to his cross-country take-off in an attempt to break the record of 5 days, 2 hours, and 13 minutes set by Cannonball Baker in 1926. Hovevar plans only one stop during the trip to San Francisco.

Visiting Weather Just Stands Around Flooding Crops And Nipping At Summer

Here's how the problem of the visiting weather-in-laws looks to the weather man. Air flow patterns, which are remaining constant instead of moving around, settled down like this just about the time the calendar said it was summer. Hatched and shaded areas show where the cool air from the north is wringing rain out of the warm moist air from the Gulf of Mexico.

BY EDWARD L. A. WAGNER
New York, (NEA)—A couple of visiting air flows—one from the Gulf of Mexico and the other from Canada—have changed their usual summer plans and have dropped in on the U. S. for an unannounced visit.

The result has been as if all the in-laws arrived at the same time—and stayed. It is raising hoi with the usual summer plans of U. S. weather.

It isn't as if these weather-in-laws weren't expected. They come every summer. But normally they keep moving around, spreading their visit all over the eastern two-thirds of the country. This year they seem to be trying to drop in on the same place at the same time.

The result is steady rains and floods in the mid-West, which already have caused the hosts millions of dollars in crop losses and property damage. It has startled the calendar with heavy summer snow in the northern Rockies and unseasonably cold temperatures in New England, the Great Lakes region and the Northern Plains.

The meteorologists put it this way:

For some undiscovered reason, there has been a continued flow of moisture-laden warm air from the Gulf of Mexico northward, in the central valleys ever since spring. An equally persistent flow of cold dry air from Canada and polar regions has been clashing with this moist warm air east of the Rockies.

The fact that these contrasting air currents have stayed almost stationary this year shoved the June rainfall in the Central and Plains states up to better than 10 inches, against a normal three and a half to four inches.

At the same time, a southerly air flow pattern in the east and northeast cut down the rainfall in the South Atlantic states and other eastern areas and gave eastern Canada more than its share of rain, retarding planting.

And while you'd think heavy snow in the Rockies and a strange nip in the summer air would be bad enough, the weather-in-laws from the north also brought along recurring spring frosts, which damaged crops and fruit from the Great Lakes, through the Ohio Valley to New England.

The meteorologists don't tell us how to prod these two visiting air flows into going about their business, instead of standing around in one place, spoiling the crops.

It's just like trying to get the in-laws to go back home.

Two-Week Airtrip Was Grand And Glorious

BY PHIL RICH

A few reflections, comments and sidelights on our two-week airtrip into Ontario may be helpful to those who plan such a trip or any trip into that region or even any outdoor trip.

Looking back, it was a grand and glorious trip despite the days of wet weather which slowed down our trip and cut us short of some of the more distant places. We caught all the fish we needed I do not know how we could use more. We did not get a bear as we did not have time to work at it much and the bear did not cooperate. We did see lots of country and we know more about this great wilderness and what it offers.

Briefly:

BLACK FLIES—The pests such as black flies and mosquitoes are at their worst from May 15 to about July 15. We ran into them in some places in swarms. Fly dope helps; smoking helps. If buzzing bothers one, neither will stop this, especially on the part of the flies. They bite hard and poison most people. We like 612,446—two new numbers and the older Stayaway. But keep all "dope" away from mouth and eyes. Miss an inch of exposed skin and they'll find it. Strange as it may seem one island on Prairie Grass lake had more flies per foot than any place else we visited.

RUBBER BOATS—The five-man rubber raft sprang a leak. It was a slow leak and we could use by keeping the pump attached. The smaller one was not usable. The inflated state on the big raft blew out on us. In general these rafts are not going to be serviceable for hard trail use. They are emergency stuff and are several years old. I doubt whether they can stand much packing around. The prices are too high for their value. When they get down to $10 they may be worth it if not too old then.

JUNGLE HAMMOCKS—Another piece of Army surplus that looks good. This hammock was made to use in the jungle and has netting sides to keep the bugs out, a waterproof roof, double canvas bottom and nylon ropes. They sell for $4. Some of them crack when you open up; some have rotten ropes on them. Perhaps you could learn to sleep in them if you had the balance of a tight rope walker and the nerve of a ten-story window cleaner. Better practice in the backyard for a couple of weeks. Generally they are too narrow for practical use, especially when you try to put a sleeping bag in one and then crawl in. For the trail you can't beat a bush bed and a light tent with sleeping bag. Of course, a canoe is not bad for cover if there is no other. Also two can sleep on a Seabee if you have one along.

FOOD—Since writing this series the rations have been removed in Canada on everything but sugar. Some things are still hard to get. But this should clear up as summer moves along. For packing keep everything possible in cans to avoid loss and keep bugs out.

COOKING—Some new cooking kits are coming on the market. We had a good one with two frying pans that fold into one outfit by nesting together. This is most serviceable. It will serve four and you can use tins for spare dishes. We also like the mountain stove which is a torch-type and can be used in rain, in boats, etc., to make a pot of tea or coffee in a few minutes. A baked ham is a good thing to start the trip with. Bacon is hard to get in Canada. FOOTWEAR—Canvas shoe with rubber bottom is good, especially for canoe work. It is best if you can only take one pair. If there is much walking I prefer a light eight inch leather top, rubber bottom pack shoe. These will keep the feet dry on muddy trails of which there are many.

CLOTHES—Even in summer I stick to a light wool and heavy wool shirt. These will help keep the flies or mosquitoes off. You can depend on cool evenings and you do not cool off as quickly with wool and may avoid sickness. Wool is better for rain or when you're wet. Also wool socks all the time—short tops. Light and heavy underwear and a strong canvas trouser.

SLEEPING BAG—Those double (down and feathers) Army surplus bags are the best I've seen and in fact the best of Army stuff sold.

I never did find out what happened to the bear and the cook up at Chelapau. Last I heard they were about to spar it out in the meat house. But the cook had a gun.

Happy memory: Swell chicken that Mrs. Joe Abbott fixed up for us just before the hopoff at Thesalon. We ate hurriedly but well of her generous dinner. Her husband, Joe, who went along, got a kick out of it once he got used to the air travel, and learned to relax and let loose of that strap, as Woody advised him. But no air-travel trip despite the urgings of her ariminded husband and even her spiritual advisor.

Make sure you have a compatible crew when you go for two weeks. Our group—E. F. "Woody" Bachelder, Al Weber and Joe Abbott—never had an argument nor even an unpleasant word. We did "pour it on" in the kidding but all seemed to enjoy it and I've never had better or more agreeable companions. Nothing I can say about their good dispositions is returned.

On the return the weather was perfect. We left camp near Thesalon on 11:25 (fast time) and arrived at Traverse City at 1:55 (fast time) two and a half hours. This included brief stops at the Canadian and U. S. customs for clearance.

GERMAN COUPLE ASKS FOR HELP

Address Written Appeal To Burgomaster Of Gladstone

An appeal for economic assistance is contained in a letter to the "Burgomaster of Gladstone" from a resident of Germany. Rev. Theophil Hoffmann translated the letter for local city authorities.

The missive follows:
Hamburg, Germany
June 15, 1947

Very Worthy Sir:

Since I nowhere have relatives or friends in your country, I kindly ask you to pass on my address to some charitable organization or to some family who might have a heart for an impoverished German couple. As a result of the terrific aerial bombardments in July 1943 on Hamburg we lost everything, our home and also our family. As by a miracle I succeeded to save my husband, who is sick with a heart ailment, and myself. Since that time we have been getting along very miserably. The last winter was very hard and this induced me to make this special plea for help to you. I plead very urgently for something to eat, for a piece of soap, and for some wool. We lack everything! For your kind efforts in trying to assist us in our need I greet you.

Very respectfully yours,
Mrs. Erna Freudenberg,
Hamburg-Othmarschen,
Park Street, 30,
Germany.

Social

Dorcas Society

The Dorcas Society of the First Lutheran church is invited to a lawn social at the home of Mrs. Herman Kinnie, 424 Minneapolis avenue, this evening at 7 o'clock. Miss Vera Ohman and Mrs. Herman Kinnie are the hostesses. The program will start at 7 o'clock.

Standing-Bucholz

Miss Alice Theresa Standing, 114 South Division, Ann Arbor, Mich., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter L. Standing, 609 Montana avenue, city, and Neil D. Bucholz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Bucholz, 517 Fountain street, Ann Arbor, Mich., spoke their nuptial vows at a double ring ceremony on Saturday at 4 p. m., in the rectory of All Saints Catholic church, with Rev. Fr. Matt LaViolette performing the marriage service.

Miss Eileen Pada, a close friend of the bride, and Harry Lawrence, brother-in-law of the groom were the attendants.

The bride wore a white gabardine suit, with matching accessories and a white halo hit. Her corsage was of red carnations.

Miss Pada chose a light blue suit with white accessories and her corsage consisted of pink carnations.

The bride's mother was attired in a gray and rose dress with white accessories complimented by a shoulder corsage of white carnations, and the groom's mother wore navy blue with white accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

A dinner was served at the home of the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Holm, for the immediate members of the family. A three tiered wedding cake, topped by the traditional bride and groom, centered the table, flanked on either side by lighted tapers. Summer flowers decorated the home. Later in the evening a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents with over sixty guests attending.

The newlyweds have left on a wedding trip to an undisclosed destination and following their return will reside in Ann Arbor.

The bride is a graduate of Gladstone high school, class of '46, and the groom is a graduate of Ann Arbor high school, class of '46. Both are employed in Ann Arbor.

Out-of-town guests were: Mrs. Russell Bucholz and son, Kenneth, Ann Arbor, Mich., Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lawrence and daughter, Karen, Alma, Mich., Mr. and Mrs. Henry Huvaere and the Misses Margaret and Eileen Stevens, Detroit, Mich., Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Stevens and daughter, Jackie, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Stevens and family, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rouse, Mr. and Mrs. Ole Peterson, Miss Jean Wentworth and Miss Shirley Mazzeau, Escanaba, and Victor Stock, Battle Creek, Mich.

Every summer Death takes his toll of the foolhardy who flout common-sense safety rules. Here are some pictorial don'ts to remember if you go boating and want to return safely. FIRE is doubly dangerous on a boat. Cigarettes and highly volatile gasoline don't mix—safety. BOAT ROCKING has been talked about so much it's trite—but it's still the chief cause of boat accidents. SHOW-OFFS who enjoy plaudits of friends may enjoy the pulmotor less. PLEASANT is the cooling breeze whizzing by when you sit on the bow of a fast-moving speedboat. Unpleasant is the fall that often follows. SMALL BOYS should stay out of boats unless accompanied by adults. Boys in picture may retrieve their paddles or they may get a dunking—if nothing worse.

2 Former Firemen Honored Sunday At U. P. Association

Munising—Two former active firemen of the Munising volunteer fire department were honored on Sunday at Gladstone during the U. P. Firemen's Association convention when they were awarded the association's past president badge by Harry Bar, a past president from Ironwood. They were: Oscar E. Oie, president of the U. P. association in 1917 at the Ironwood convention; and Dave C. DePew, president in 1921 at the Negaunee convention.

The past president award is a small gold badge engraved with the name of the association and the year in which the holder served as president.

Mr. Oie joined the Munising volunteer fire department in 1911 and served in an active capacity until 1937 when he was made an honorary member. During his service, Mr. Oie acted as secretary - treasurer of the local organization for a number of years and was also secretary of the Upper Peninsula Association in 1922-23, being elected to that office upon the death of Thomas Flynn, Negaunee, who was holding the office of secretary at the time of his death in 1922.

Mr. DePew became a member of the local fire department in 1902 and also served as secretary-treasurer of the local group during his service. He retired from active duty as a fireman last year and at that time, was made an honorary member.

Jack E. Ryan, now deceased, was the only other Munising man to hold the office of president of the U. P. Association as far as could be recalled by Mr. Oie who has been active in the association's annual affair since 1912.

Mr. DePew attended the convention at Gladstone Sunday and received his badge in person. Mr. Oie was not present to receive the award.

New Officers Of Shingleton 4-H Club Announced

MYSTERY DISK IS SEEN HERE

Two Note Its Presence In Sky East Of City

At least six Manistique residents are firmly convinced that the much discussed flying disks are something more than optical illusions.

They saw one soaring across the sky east of Manistique about 7:30 Tuesday evening.

Probate Judge Ralph Merwin and his son, Ralph Jr., motoring east on Highway US-2 about that time, saw high above them, heading northward, a bright and apparently perforated disk. At first they thought it might be the aluminum plate at the county airport reflecting the rays of the sun, but when they stopped the car each saw what the other did—a silvery disk. They listened carefully but the strange object gave forth no sound. It suddenly disappeared from view. Whether it swerved so that the sun's rays didn't hit it squarely or whether it disintegrated, they cannot say.

Not long afterward four men at Port Inland saw an object of the same sort heading north. These men were Mayor William Berger, Robert Marks, Henry Colgrove and Jack Slack.

What we can spare, what we must hold for the future and what we must import is becoming a prime national question.

There is plenty of uncertainty relative to the nation's mineral reserves.

A bipartisan committee experts is being urged here to study the situation. It will have a double-headed job: 1. To determine which and how much of the minerals produced in the United States can be spared for other countries, and 2. What foreign minerals, and in what quantities, should be obtained from abroad and stockpiled for future emergencies.

Undoubtedly there are vast deposits of minerals in America as yet undiscovered. At present, however, only known deposits can be considered in determining both exports and import needs. In the last report of the U. S. Bureau of Mines it is urged that an inventory job on a national scale be undertaken at once. It is a survey that would take years to complete. Every known scientific method of determining mineral deposits would be employed, both in continental United States and in Alaska.

An idea of the present situation can be obtained from an unpublished report made earlier this year to Congress by the U. S. Bureau of Mines and the Geological Survey. It contains estimates of the 42 most essential minerals in known reserves. Discovery of new deposits, however, would change the picture.

76 Years Of Iron Ore

Among metals, based on the average annual production and consumption during the ten years ended in 1944, magnesium, molybdenum and titanium exist in plentiful quantities. Titanium oxide is widely used as a pigment in paint; molybdenum is important in steel alloys.

Iron ore is sufficient for 76 years. Other estimates are for a greater period, but it depends upon improved methods of reducing ore of low-grade now unused.

Domestic bauxite for aluminum will last 22 years. With new methods of obtaining aluminum from other clays, the supply of aluminum is assured for a much greater period. There is a 50-year supply of arsenic and a 36-year supply of bismuth.

The zinc reserves will last 20 years; copper and gold, 19; silver, 13; cadmium, 11; lead, 10; and vanadium, eight. The domestic reserves of manganese, platinum, tungsten, tantalum and chromium are even lower. Nickel and tin are not produced commercially in the United States.

Among the non-metals, all especially important in times of war, there is an unlimited reserve of nitrates and salt, enough bituminous coal and lignite for over 40 centuries, and sufficient anthracite for 187 years. Phosphate rocks for fertilizer and chemicals are in a six-century supply. Potash is more limited, but it will last nearly a century, it is estimated.

Sulfur reserves face exhaustion in 36 years. It is an important material, the basis of most of the sulfuric acid widely used in many industries. Fluorspar, needed for the newly-harnessed fluoride chemicals, is sufficient for 33 years.

Known reserves of petroleum will be exhausted in 15 years, according to this estimate. The discovery of new oil fields, however, is expected, and the pro-

BURNING ONE'S BRIDGES

Boats were used to build emergency bridges for use in wartime. The bridges were burned as the retreat went on when an army had to give way, and thus we got the phrase, "to burn one's bridges."

July 15 Deadline For Filing Rosters For U.P. Softball Meets

DISTRICT TILTS BEGIN JULY 28

Association Seeks To Forestall Eligibility Squabbles

Managers of softball teams throughout the Upper Peninsula are reminded that the deadline for filing team rosters with the Upper Peninsula Softball association is July 15. Teams not registered by that date will not be allowed to compete in the district tournaments which will be held from July 28 to Aug. 3. The following cities have been awarded district tournaments: Escanaba, Ishpeming, Ironwood, Ripley, and Iron Mountain.

Teams will qualify through the district tournaments in order to compete in the regional finals to be held in Negaunee Aug. 4 to 10. The A and B divisions will be for teams who have older players on their roster. Class C will be open to young teams that would ordinarily fall into the junior division.

In virtually every tournament eligibility has been the source of many serious arguments. In order to forestall this as much as possible official roster sheets have been sent to all districts. Team managers have been instructed to fill in these blanks with the names of their players and mail them to George Grenholm at Escanaba by midnight of July 15. Copies of these rosters will be in the hands of tournament officials and the line-ups submitted for each game will be checked with the team roster sheets. If a player's name is not on the roster he will not be eligible to compete.

SOFTBALL

VETS WHIPPED IN 9TH

Before the largest crowd to witness a city softball league game at Memorial Field this season, the Paper Mill upset the favored Vets 9-2, in two extra innings last night by scoring seven runs in the first of the ninth. They were 2-all at the end of the seventh innings.

Tommy Ellegret, Paper Mill hurler, pitched a beautiful game going the route, allowing the Vets only four hits. Paul Larson, Vet pitcher, had given up only seven hits through the eighth inning.

In the opener last night, Delta Transits defeated DeGrand, 7-4. Oseen was the winning hurler.

CORBETT'S CORNER WIN

Corbett's Corner stopped St. Ann's, 6-3, in a cadet softball game yesterday. Provo, winning hurler, allowed four hits.

COYNE'S WIN

Coyne's defeated Halvorsen's 12-6, in a city midget softball game played yesterday.

PENINSULAS WIN

The Peninsula Home Service team defeated Halvorsen's, 20-16, in a midget league softball game Tuesday.

UTILITIES WIN

The Public Utilities defeated Tim and Sally's, 9-2, in a city league tilt at Ludington park yesterday evening. Fred Brietsman was the winning hurler.

ITS WORST YEAR

Clyde, Britain's famous ship-building city, had its worst year in 1931. Business dropped 70 per cent below that of 1930, and 80 per cent below that of 1913, the best year on record.

PERFECT BACK JACKKNIFE—One of the features of the tenth annual water carnival at Oconto, Wis., July 16-20, will be the appearance of Miss Rosemary Schwab, of Menasha, Wis., who is shown here executing a back jackknife dive with perfect form. Assuming that her approach and entry are perfect also, judges would have to rate her a top ten on this dive. Chuck Sligh, Jr., of Holland, Mich., and his team of water skiers who spotlighted the Hiawathaland Festival here, also will perform in Oconto.

U.P. Open Junior Baseball Meet To Be Conducted Here

All junior baseball teams in the Upper Peninsula are invited to enter the Upper Peninsula open junior baseball tournament to be held in Escanaba late next month under the sponsorship of the Escanaba recreation department.

Details of the meet will be announced later, George Grenholm, city recreation director, said yesterday.

"The meet is being held to give all junior teams in the U. P. an opportunity to participate in tournament competition, an appropriate climax for the end of regular scheduled play," he said.

"Only seven teams are participating in the Upper Peninsula League tournament being held in Iron Mountain this week. That leaves a lot of good junior baseball clubs out of the picture, and they should have an opportunity to compete in a tournament."

Oldtimers! Here's Your Big Chance To Play Softball

Efforts are being made to organize an oldtimers' softball league which would operate on a week-day or Sunday basis from July and August. Men from 30 to 70 years of age are asked to send their names to the city youth center indicating their interest in participating in the program.

It is hoped that men's service clubs will organize teams and enter them this week. Player's lists should be in by July 15 in order to be eligible to compete in the district tournament to be held in Escanaba in August.

A group of players from Wells are expected to form a team for the league and the following service clubs may enter: Elks, Lions, Eagles, and K. C. The Press, post office and United Commercial Travelers are almost certain to enter if a league is formed.

LONGEST WALK

The walking record for the trip from New York to San Francisco was made by Abraham L. Monteverde, of Mays Landing, N. J., in 1929. The record was 79 days, 10 hours and 10 minutes for the 3415 miles covered.

The Sports Parade

BY JIM WARD

Frank Karas, former Escanaba high school athlete, has been appointed assistant athletic director at Ferris Institute, Big Rapids.

Karas, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Karas, 1010 Seventh avenue South who are well known in their own right by every Escanaba high school student, will serve as assistant to Coach Bob Sherman in all sports.

For two years, the Escanaban has been physical education director of Flint Junior college and Whittier high school of Flint, Mich., and will begin his work at Ferris Institute as line coach in football when late summer grid practice gets underway there Monday, Aug. 4.

School officials in Escanaba will always remember big, husky Frank as the fellow responsible for bringing many young fellows into the membership of the high school band and orchestra.

There was a tendency in Karas' days for young students to look upon tooting a horn in a school orchestra as something slightly on the "sissy" side, but when big Frank, who was and still is a fine musician, joined the band, a lot of other fellows followed suit, and the school suddenly found itself with a very creditable and husky orchestra.

Frank played a lot of tackle for Coach Carl Nordberg, and he later was a regular tackle at Michigan State college. All of which called for a lot of football ability about as far removed from anything classified as "sissified" as Russia is from a wholesale agreement with the United Nations.

Dot-dash items accumulated during a busy Hiawathaland Festival (remember?): Ernie Kivisto, former Marquette university basketball player from Ironwood, has signed a contract as head basketball coach and assistant in football and track at Miami, Ariz., high school. . . . Gerald Harris, Ronnie and Ray Hirm are the "coming" golfers at Escanaba's Highland Golf club. . . . The youngsters are shooting steadily in the high 30s and low 40s. Harris is the lad who waltzed off with all the ski prizes at Gladstone last winter. . . . His father used to live in Gladstone, so young Gerald knows his way around those Gladstone hills. . . . Ray is the player who paced Escanaba high school to second in U. P. golf.

Ed Maki, Michigan Tech hockey coach, reports that Tech has been admitted to membership in the Midwest Hockey league, affiliated with the National Collegiate Athletic Association. . . . Michigan's Vie Heyliger's hockey organization's work is beginning to bear fruit. . . . Other members of the Midwest wheel are Michigan and Minnesota and North Dakota is reported nibbling. . . . A national collegiate hockey tournament will be held the third week of March each year. . . . Winners of the Ivy league, New England league, Midwest circuit and the Far West loop will compete annually. . . . Nice going, Heyliger!

Faust L. "Frosty" Ferzacca, who collected his mail in Iron Mountain before Uncle Sam's postal couriers found him at Green Bay West high school, will coach one of the squads in the U. P. all-star grid game in Negaunee Aug. 16. . . . Ferzacca, whose Green Bay teams have lost only two games in two years, said he'll use the T-formation. . . . He became well acquainted with it at Lake Forest and has been using it consistently.

Humboldt is not the cock of the walk it once was in the Rainbow league. . . . For a team which had more star players than it knew what to do with during its Rainbow honeymoon, it is now being buffed unmercifully by opposing league teams, namely Gladstone, Manistique and Munising. . . . Gladstone is now riding high, with only one defeat marring its undisputed lead-leading record. . . . That was a 5-2 licking administered by Negaunee June 1. . . . On other more happy occasions, the Redskins have beaten Manistique, 4-1 (May 18); Trenary, 5-3 (May 25); Humboldt, 1-0 (June 8 in 10 innings); Gwinn, 11-2 (June 15); Ishpeming, 5-3 (June 22); Marquette, 2-1 (June 29 in 10 innings); and Republic, 3-2 last Sunday.

In 36 games to date, southern division teams in the Rainbow have won 26, the North has won 10. . . . The only game that saved the North from another shellacking, southern style, last Sunday was Ishpeming's surprising 6-5 upset over Munising. The Bonds' first loss in seven games. . . . It was on June 2 that the South shut out the North, six triumphs in six games. . . . And the following week, the southerners almost lost it again, only Humboldt's 12-3 conquest of Trenary saving the southerners from a blanking.

Typographical error in AP golf story: "Lawson Little, 1049 National Open king" . . . Not too far off at that. . . . The former Stanford university man-about-the-campus hasn't won a major meet in many a moon.

Rainbow All-Star Tilt In Negaunee August 14

Negaunee, July 9.—The Rainbow league's "dream game," a battle between picked teams of the Northern and Southern divisions of the loop, became a reality when officials and team managers gave it their stamp of approval at a meeting in Munising.

Negaunee will have the honor of presenting the league's first all-star game under the lights on the Athletic field diamond on V-J day, August 14.

The game will be held under sponsorship of the Rovers Baseball club and gate receipts, after expenses, will go to the league treasury. It is planned to use the money for player insurance for the league.

The manager of the leading team in each division, as of Aug. 3, will be the pilot of that division's all-star group. On Aug. 5, each division will hold a meeting of team managers to choose an all-star squad of 18 players, with each team in the league to be represented by at least two men. Managers of the teams will select their assistants and coaches.

All other arrangements will be made by the Negaunee Baseball club, with the exception of choosing umpires, who will be named by the league's commissioner, William Goldsworthy. Other officers of the league, which is strictly amateur, are Orville Wieland, Munising, president; Gene Short, Marquette, secretary; and George Mathieson, Gladstone, treasurer.

DETROIT WITHDRAWS FROM PRO CAGE LOOP

New York, July 9 (P)—The withdrawal of the Detroit club from the Professional Basketball Association of America was accepted today by the association's board of governors and seven Detroit players were awarded to other clubs.

In announcing the withdrawal, League President Maurice Podoloff said that officials of Olympia Arena, which held the franchise, were convinced that Detroit is not a good pro basketball city. The team had a bad season financially in the league's first year of operation.

Detroit is the second of the circuit's clubs to drop out this summer. Cleveland withdrew a few weeks ago.

HERMANVILLE NINE TIPS WILSON, 7-4

Hermansville, July 9.—Scoring three runs in the last two innings, the Hermansville nine defeated Wilson 7-4 in a Cloverland league game Sunday at Wilson. Steve Machalk was the winning pitcher.

CRUISE REACHES STURGEON BAY

Escanaba Yacht Club Race Ends Today At Menominee

Three more sailboats joined the Escanaba Yacht Club cruising race Wednesday as the yachts started the second leg of their cruise, from Fish Creek to Sturgeon Bay. The three newcomers, all in the cruising division, were: Halcyon, Marinette; Hope, Marinette; Sagia, Fish Creek. Leaders at the finish were: Belle Aurore, Milwaukee; Great Bear, Ephraim; Rose of Sharon, Escanaba.

In the racing division, the top six included: Flyte, Marinette; Oslo, Escanaba; A-Noel, Sturgeon Bay; Yankee, Escanaba; Cerasus, Sturgeon Bay; Rinette IV, Marinette, a new entry.

Today the boats will make their Sturgeon Bay to Menominee run to end the cruising race. Friday will be a layover at Menominee-Marquette, and Saturday a 100-mile race will be run off. Escanaba boats will return home Sunday.

State PGA Slated In Midland July 20

Midland, July 9.—Headed by Melvin "Chick" Harbert, 1946 Michigan PGA champion and runner-up in the recent national PGA meet in Detroit, a field of from 35 to 40 pros is expected to enter the 26th annual Michigan PGA annual PGA tourney here Sunday, July 20.

Other "play for pay" golfers expected to enter are Sam Byrd, Detroit's Plum Hollow Country club pro, 1944 and 1945 state PGA champion; Al Watrous, Oakland Hills Country club pro of Birmingham, seven-time winner of the state PGA title, runnerup four different years and tied for runnerup honors in 1944; Frank Walsh, colorful pro of Red Run Country club, Royal Oak; Joe Belmore of Grosse Pointe Farms, 1933 and 1934 winner; Tommy Shannon of Orchard Lake Country club, Pontiac, state PGA secretary; Frank Spregel of Grand Rapids, state PGA president; Horton Smith, Detroit Golf club pro and former country club star; Chick Rount of Lechmoor Country club, Grosse Pointe Woods; Orm Beaupre of Grosse Pointe Farms; and Jack Winney, unattached of Detroit.

Three Games Sunday In Tri-County Loop

With the Escanaba Cubs still undefeated in three games in the Tri-County Junior Baseball league, the circuit will swing into its fourth round of activity with a full slate of three games next Sunday.

The Cubs will be host to Manistique, Munising will invade Nahma, and the Chatham juniors will play before a home crowd for the first time this season when the Gladstone squad comes to town for a league melee.

Ford River Beats Schaffer Juniors

The Ford River Juniors gained a .500 rating in the newly organized junior baseball league composed of teams from Ford River, Perronville, Bark River and Schaffer by defeating the Schaffer Juniors, 5-1, this week. In its opener last week, the Ford River nine bowed, 8-7, to Bark River in a hard-fought game.
